Interviews not disrupted

(Continued from Page 1) few of the demonstrators ventured inside the booth where Dow was conducting interviews but moved to the corridors peacefully when asked by the administration because they were interfering with interviews of Dow and other companies. The whole demonstration lasted about two hours and was over by 11 a.m. There were no incidents.

Head statement

Dr. Rowe states that the demonstrations have given some people a place to vent their opportunities and interview schedules.

Dr. Rowe reads a statement prepared by Dow to one of the demonstrations who had legitimately signed up for an interview. The statement said that the company "endorses the right of any American to legally and peacefully protect their freedoms, opinions and institutions." As a result, Dow did not engage in any activities that would interfere with interviews of Dow and other companies.

Philco is looking for people who don't know all the answers.

As a major subsidiary of Ford Motor Company, Philco is involved in virtually everything that matters to people today. We are fast approaching $1 billion in annual sales to consumer, industrial and government markets. We design sophisticated communications systems ... develop television technology ... and direct major operations in foreign countries. But we don't pretend to know everything. If you want to help us find the answers to questions still unasked, then we have a place for you. We will be visiting your campus on March 2 and 3. Contact your Placement Office.

For sale-TASIGN: 15" ceiling speakers. Cost $200 installed in booth cabinets. Very decorative in wall finish. 39-360-watt — 8 ohms. The speakers are a great bargain and are in excellent condition.

Philco will be here on March 2 and 3.

Don Fischer (MIT '53, Harvard MBA '59) is manager of corporate planning and systems. He's in his mid-thirties. He works at Photocircuits.

Don had his pick of jobs but chose Photocircuits. For a good reason. Today he's Manager of Corporate Planning and Systems ... quite a responsibility for a guy in his mid-thirties. But Don can handle it. That's why Photocircuits picked him for this key management position. For Don, it's paid off handsomely. Besides enjoying plenty of personal fulfillment and job satisfaction, Don gets a tremendous kick out of changing the State-of-the-Art into the state of being. So will you.

By the way, Photocircuits is one of the world's largest independent manufacturers of printed circuit boards. We also make printed circuit board paperwork. Data processing equipment. All three are exciting, fast-growing fields. In Photocircuits, you can make a mark. And you're a part of a growing company.

Don, who has a B.S. in Engineering from Lehigh and an M.B.A. from Harvard, says, "I find the work fascinating. It gives me a personal satisfaction and a feeling of accomplishment."
