By Jeffrey S. Rattner

Philando and Robert Reed both live in New York City. They have been friends for years, but rarely see each other. Last week, they decided to have dinner together to celebrate Reed’s birthday.

Philando arrived at Reed’s apartment building to find that Reed was not home. He decided to wait outside the door for Reed to return.

While waiting, Philando noticed a neighbor moving in and out of the building. He watched as the neighbor, a woman named Suzu, unpacked boxes and seemed to be establishing herself in the apartment.

Philando was intrigued by Suzu’s presence in Reed’s building. He wondered what connection she might have with Reed and decided to approach her and strike up a conversation.

Suzu was friendly and seemed to be a Forgotten Child. She mentioned that she was a singer and had recently moved to New York City to pursue a career in music.

Philando, who was a fan of Forgotten Children’s music, was taken with Suzu and decided to introduce her to Reed. He arranged a meeting between the two and helped Suzu get acquainted with Reed and his friends.

Philando was pleased to see that Suzu and Reed hit it off and began spending more time together. He was happy to have found a new friend in Suzu and looked forward to spending more time with her and Reed in the future.
