By Bob McGee

A hit giving entertainment, film with a new twist is now appearing at the Savoy. "Night of the Generals" tells the story during the decline of the Third Reich, at the end of the war when the Nazi generals plotted to assassinate Hitler. However, the film employs the unusual move of putting the murder mystery into the story and making it the next of the High Command with which the film concerns itself.

Seminal

There is a lot of sensationalism in the film, and there are certainly no great messages for the audience, but the director has cleverly appropriated his story and there are no pretenses in the film. The film is exciting but light entertainment. This is the type of movie that will appeal to a large audience. There's nothing unusual about "Night of the Generals" in every way.

Vassar glee club sings King Arthur

This Saturday, the Vassar College Glee Club will combine with the MIT Glee Club to sing Henry Purcell's "King Arthur." This seventeenth century masterpiece by Britain's greatest composer will be presented in the Sala de Puerto Rico. The concert, starting at 8:30, will allow enough time after the concert to visit the APO carnival after the concert. The featured soloists for this concert will be Mary Lee Cirella, mezzo, Richard Burke, tenor, and Arturo Fallico, bass, and John Dohi, tenor, with Klaus Liepman conducting. Admission price is $1.00, but students can buy tickets in advance in the lobby of building 35 for fifty cents.
