AIESEC conference
Urban development concealed scheduled

By Pat Raymond

“Housing and Urban Redevelopment in the United States” will be the topic under discussion at a seminar to be held at MIT on May 26 in 151. Conference will be attended by not only AIESEC trainees from the various member countries, but also selected representatives of domestic and foreign businesses, universities, and governments. They will explore the roles of business, university, and government planning and activity in housing and urban redevelopment in the United States.

Prof. Ives to speak

After registration on Thursday evening and a reception at the Hotel Statler, the actual conference will open Friday morning with a welcome by Prof. D. W. Pack, President of the AIESEC-MIT. Following this will be five paper addresses by Professor Leonard J. Fein, Department of Political Science, and Edward J. Logan, Development Administrator, Boston Redevelopment Authority. Tours of Boston's lunch and an afternoon panel discussion on housing will finish the day.

Tuesday morning, Rev. W. Stavey, Vice-President of the Metropolitan Planning Council, will speak along with Prof. Bruce Hayden, Vice-President of the Connecticut General Life Insurance Co. Rackets Rest, One-Day Service
