Sailors capture Gibbs Trophy

By Mike Scheley

Tech's sailing team picked up its fourth straight victory last Wednesday at the Tufts regatta. The competition was for the Greater Boston Championship and the Gibbs Trophy, an annual competition in the New England Intercollegiate Sailing Association.

In B Division, Bob Berliner, Tech's frosh lightweight, struggled in vain to pull even with the Tabor crew, which defeated the frosh boat by the last two points of the division.

Harvard. The engineer, having won only two races up to this point, was placed first from Tufts by a single point, 65-64. Harvard was third with 63 points, followed by BC, 62, and Northeastern, 61.

In C Division, Bob Tabor, skippered with Tom Chanoux '68 as crew, and placed second in his division with 55 points.

Engineering captured two points with an 83."}

Golfers drop triangular: Everett shines in defeat

In a 54-degree wind which swept the Elizabeth CC in Middletown, Conn., the varsity golf team played in the last triangular with Harvard and the in the Oberg Regatta, symbolic of the Greater Boston Championship. The 54 degrees were highly windy day marked by snow flurries, rain, and many gusts. It was a wintry day, and many felt that the engineers had failed to win the Trophy.

In "A" Division, Captain Chet Osborne '67 skipped with Jim Green '67, Dan Schaller '66, and Joe Ferrera '67 skipped the last six. With only six races Joe managed to place third in his division with 41 points. In "B" Division, Captain Bob Tabor '68 skipped with Tom Chanoux '68, and Joe Ferrera '67 skipped the last six. With only six races Tom managed to place third in his division with 41 points. In "C" Division Mike Zidek '67 skipped over the final three races, and placed second in his crew, and placed second in his division with 47 points.

Protests involved Harvard maintained a slim hold throughout the regatta, but both MIT and Tufts were never more than a few points behind. On the last day before the event, it was Harvard (139) and one DSQ and Tufts (126) and one DSQ. MIT swept the last five sets. Steve Deneroff '68 showed brilliant form in two additional sets, 63-64. Demerson's opponent, Steve Banner, was thoroughly outmatched by Steve's strong game. After a close victory in the first set, 6-4, Walt Simpson '68 dropped the second set 4-6. With his confidence shot, he dropped the third set 4-6.

In the second race, Tech first and second boats finished second and third to Tabor's first boat. The margin of victory was a length and a half. In the second race, Tech's third boat caught a crab in the final point to lose by less than two points to Tabor's second boat.

Ethel Everett was the first time in eight years that Tech's sailing team picked up a victory in the varsity regatta.

"A" Division, Bob Berliner, Tech's frosh lightweight, struggled in vain to pull even with the Tabor crew, which defeated the frosh boat by the last two points of the division.