We'll find the most convenient flights, make hotel reservations if desired (at student rates where available) and arrange for an auto rental if you need a car. These services are all free at Heritage. Heritage Travel will process your travel needs in minutes while saving you unnecessary trips into Boston. Just call or visit our office, we’re open from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m., Monday through Friday. And if you wish, we’ll arrange to deliver your airplane ticket to your dormitory desk.

FULL RE-EXAMINATION NEEDED OF FEDERAL FUNDING POLICIES

Federal-sponsored research. Along these lines, new trends have been developing. For example, there has been increasing restriction on how research funds are to be used by institutions on any research mission. Secondly, the Federal government is now trying to spread out its funds to a larger geographical region rather than having it centralized in areas such as Cambridge. Dr. Wiesner, although in favor of such a program, fears that it jeopardizes large institutions like MIT since they are less well funded with more restrictions, while those areas of the country lacking strong academic centers, receive more than their due. Wiesner feels that a larger fraction of the money appropriated by Congress should be made available in existing laboratories to provide for "healthy development" while some fraction should be put away to provide for the growth of these new laboratories.
