Blues, green, and red lights flashing on a riot of psychedelic post-eros. Beyond, hanging beards reveal a "Please Remove Shoes" sign and a refrigerator described by its creator as an "allegory of the universe." On the opposite end of the sixth floor a member of the rocket society displays a photo-diagram of grass being approached at 100 miles per hour at an altitude of three feet.

"Gold Coast"
A region of the fifth floor best becoming known as the "Gold Coast" has been transformed by residents into a cross between a lounge and a steakhouse. Outside noises like that booming of a black velvet door, 'pseudo-wood wall-paneling, ceiling-slung surfboard, and well-placed lighting, picture posters hide the brick with Dracula, Elizabeth Taylor, Humphrey Bogart, a view of the earth from the moon, and mantelstones to the "infinite, fervid, masteries of the midnight, the one and only Chicago OIdel" who "now, in this young heart, rekindled the joy of the despairing masses." The model stock car racing, couch-strewn hall party-

Resistance lists FBI tactics to do if the FBI contacts you.
These include: read the warrant, allow the agent(s) to make sure they don't plant anything, call a lawyer and describe every move the agents make over the phone and add, "if you wish, you may raise the initiative and try to interview the FBI and get them to sign statements about their draft decrements and complicity with the government, etc." The up-telling ending: "The FBI is going to be a bunch of political hacks, use threaten loudly but back down when their bluff is called."

I won't go into business when I graduate because:

- I'd lose my individuality.
- It's graduate school for me.
- My mother wants me to be a doctor.

Argentina says we'll find Arnold is serious?

1. How do you know
Arnold is serious?
He gave me his swearing wand.

2. Think you'll like life with a naturalist?
Arnold says you tend to have everything you could want in a house.

3. What'll you do for fun?
Go on overnight
cricket hunts.

4. Oh boy!
For food, I'll be figs, curds and whey.

5. Yummy.
Arnold says we'll find comforts. Before we got engaged, he listed up a good job; then he got plenty of Living Insurance from Equitable to provide solid protection for a wife and family and build a retirement fund at the same time.

How do you return a
