Sophs must apply soon for junior year abroad

Many opportunities for spending the junior year abroad are open to MIT students, but it is still of interest to interested seniors to contact Dean Harold L. Farnum, Foreign Study Advisor.

For material in order to be considered for next year's program, the MIT Office of International Services does not maintain its own formal program for study abroad. MIT students have placed students in in near European countries. The principal reason for spending a year abroad is the experience to be gained in achieving a working competence in a second language and living and working in another culture. While some difficulties may be encountered concerning selectivity of the transfer of credits, and the completion of MIT degree requirements, these are usually not serious and the student who spends a year abroad can probably graduate with his class.

One requirement which is absolutely essential for the student who wishes to study abroad in good fitness is the appropriate foreign language.

By John Gerth

On Tuesday evening before the massive anti-draft, anti war demonstration in Boston, the MIT Draft Resistance held an open meeting in the Student Center. Another speaker was going to say it with their actions. He added that resistance was seeking to become a movement which would change American society.

Heusen "417" Vanopress shirt. Made with features new Soil-Away process that washes out stains and collar soil without scrubbing.

The biggest man on campus! Really trim and twelve 1/2 inches. For them physicals and personally literature to men going for a deferment. The BDRG's position to helping anyone to get build a 'movement.' In addition to the massive anti-draft, anti-war demonstration in Boston, the group's efforts to length about what is happening to be considered a resistor.

a necessary one for a person who turns in his card last to the person of Mike Ferber the principal speaker arrived the McCormick girls will play hosts to an informal open house the night of Spring Weekend. Anyone interested in operating roulette to 4 on Tuesday, April 9.

The exhibit will open May 3rd on the second floor of the student center, Main Bulletin boards, and the Student Center studios by April 26th.

The McCormick girls will play hosts to an informal open house

on Wednesday. The meeting opened with the first draft card. The

had already turned in their draft cards and three who were planning to do so at Redwood Park.

The meeting ended with a discussion of the demonstration

The McCormick girls will play hosts to an informal open house

on Wednesday. The meeting opened with

the first draft card. The

had already turned in their draft

cards and three who were planning to do so at Redwood Park.

The meeting ended with a dis-

cussion of the demonstration

Resistance explores action options

He also said that the resistance will not support either

McCarthy or Kennedy until they

take a stronger position on the draft and war. Ferber noted that the resistance was seeking to become a movement which would change American society.

He added that resistance was seeking to become a movement which would change American society.

He also said that the re-

sistance will not support either

McCarthy or Kennedy until they

take a stronger position on the

draft and war. Ferber noted that

the resistance was seeking to

become a movement which

would change American society.

He also said that the re-

sistance will not support either

McCarthy or Kennedy until they

take a stronger position on the

draft and war. Ferber noted that

the resistance was seeking to

become a movement which

would change American society.

He also said that the re-

sistance will not support either

McCarthy or Kennedy until they

take a stronger position on the

draft and war. Ferber noted that

the resistance was seeking to

become a movement which

would change American society.

He also said that the re-

sistance will not support either

McCarthy or Kennedy until they

take a stronger position on the

draft and war. Ferber noted that

the resistance was seeking to

become a movement which

would change American society.

He also said that the re-

sistance will not support either

McCarthy or Kennedy until they

take a stronger position on the

draft and war. Ferber noted that

the resistance was seeking to

become a movement which

would change American society.

He also said that the re-

sistance will not support either

McCarthy or Kennedy until they

take a stronger position on the

draft and war. Ferber noted that

the resistance was seeking to

become a movement which

would change American society.