Pi Kappa Alpha plans for colonization rush starts Tuesday at Center Student

The Pi Kappa Alpha Fraternity at Trinity College announces a new chapter for its members. The goal of the chapter is to recruit new members and to provide a social environment for its members. The chapter plans to hold a rush event on Tuesday at Center Student.

Footnotes

*By Karen Watt

Many students who stayed at MIT for more than three years found the rules and regulations to be restrictive. They felt that the freedom to express themselves was limited. The students who stayed for more than three years found the freedom to express themselves was limited. They felt that the rules and regulations were restrictive. The students who stayed for more than three years found the freedom to express themselves was limited. They felt that the rules and regulations were restrictive.

PARDHON RESTAURANT
EXCELLENT CUISINE WITH EUROPEAN AND AMERICAN WINES ONLY KINDS OF LIQUOR AFFORDABLE FEATURING THE ANCIENT GRECIO PARTHENON

OPEN EVERY DAY
11 a.m. to p.m.
Extreme Moderately Prices For Reservations Call 491-9293
249 Mass. Ave. (BETWEEN BEARD AND CENTRAL SQUARES)

Assembly discusses New Left

(continued from page 4)

Letters to The Tech

Hope to the editor:

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE RESISTANCE:

Dear Sir,

I am writing this open letter to the MIT Resistance Statement at the March 15th Meeting and after hearing the debate on this topic, I would like to make a few points about the MIT Resistance (members and participants) to be held on March 31.

First, I believe that the statement was not well thought out. The student body is a large and diverse group, and it is important to consider the views of all students when making decisions.

Second, I believe that the statement did not address the concerns of all students. Some students may feel that the statement is too vague, and others may feel that it is not specific enough.

Third, I believe that the statement did not address the concerns of all students. Some students may feel that the statement is too vague, and others may feel that it is not specific enough.

Finally, I believe that the statement did not address the concerns of all students. Some students may feel that the statement is too vague, and others may feel that it is not specific enough.

I hope that you will consider these points when making future decisions.

Yours sincerely,

John Doe

parking problem

To the Editor:

I am deeply disturbed by the comments attributed to Professor Hansen in the March 27 issue of The Tech that quoted, "Undergraduate teaching is a political issue in the MIT (police's political science) department." I support the department's apparent support of the country's leading political science department. I believe that the department's strategy is probably helping our nation towards a brighter future. However, I do not agree with the prospect of the pursuit of this goal requires and perhaps political science must suffer.

W. Gary Semanison '69

(continued from page 1)

freeholder to establish a new degree

Bachelors of Science in Engineering. The purpose of this degree is to retain the requirements for science and engineering students who wish to enter a professional degree program. The degree is intended for students who have completed a bachelor's degree in science and engineering. It will be offered in the spring of 1971.

A short note of thanks is due the questioners which turn up around us in the order of our senior's Theology.

Letters to The Tech

Hope to the editor:

AN OPEN LETTER TO THE RESISTANCE:

Dear Sir,

I am writing this open letter to the MIT Resistance Statement at the March 15th Meeting and after hearing the debate on this topic, I would like to make a few points about the MIT Resistance (members and participants) to be held on March 31.

First, I believe that the statement was not well thought out. The student body is a large and diverse group, and it is important to consider the views of all students when making decisions.

Second, I believe that the statement did not address the concerns of all students. Some students may feel that the statement is too vague, and others may feel that it is not specific enough.

Third, I believe that the statement did not address the concerns of all students. Some students may feel that the statement is too vague, and others may feel that it is not specific enough.

Finally, I believe that the statement did not address the concerns of all students. Some students may feel that the statement is too vague, and others may feel that it is not specific enough.

I hope that you will consider these points when making future decisions.

Yours sincerely,

John Doe

parking problem

To the Editor:

I am deeply disturbed by the comments attributed to Professor Hansen in the March 27 issue of The Tech that quoted, "Undergraduate teaching is a political issue in the MIT (police's political science) department." I support the department's apparent support of the country's leading political science department. I believe that the department's strategy is probably helping our nation towards a brighter future. However, I do not agree with the prospect of the pursuit of this goal requires and perhaps political science must suffer.

W. Gary Semanison '69

(continued from page 1)

freeholder to establish a new degree

Bachelors of Science in Engineering. The purpose of this degree is to retain the requirements for science and engineering students who wish to enter a professional degree program. The degree is intended for students who have completed a bachelor's degree in science and engineering. It will be offered in the spring of 1971.