Improved world situations. Much of the questioning was about Viet Nam. One student remembered Humphrey's previous discussion of the effects of the war on our society, asked him to consider the results of the conflict for the Viet Nam people. Admitting the tragic consequences of the fighting there, Humphrey favored an immediate, negotiated cease-fire to end the killing. He also saw the possibility of pulling out a substantial number of US troops this year.

Wednesday afternoon an anonymous caller on the "100" line claimed a bomb was planted in the Student Center. Humphrey's sherry hour and dinner in the Mezzanine Lounge was relocated as Campus patrolmen and custodial personnel cleared the building. An hour-long search failed to uncover any explosives, and the building was reopened about 7:15. It was the first bomb scare in the Student Center's four-year history.
