Assembly sanctions March referendum

Draft of Letter to the CEP approved at GA meeting Tuesday night. February 10th. Faculty Committee on Educational Policy, Faculty Disciplinary Committee, and students.

In reply to the CEP letter of February 10th: our ultimate concern is the protection of the entire community, and equal concern is the creation of a community judicial process which assures the free expression in the Rogers Theater, Harvard at 8 pm.

Finally we come to the question of legitimacy. A judicial system which draws its authority from the faculty, and its changes from the administration, yet is only applicable to students, cannot be legitimate in a community of all groups. No matter how much its procedures are reformed, the Discipline Committee is not a community system of justice. The Undergraduate Judicial Task Force has prepared recommendations for such a community system, and it will be meeting with any faculty to discuss its proposals.

We hope that such a system will be implemented before any more changes are made to the Discipline Committee. To try students in a system that lacks legitimacy in the eyes of the students who might be tried by it can only exacerbate the present difficulties in the community and trust that are necessary for this community to operate effectively.

We're a diversified company. A big one. Our sales will run more than half a billion this year. They'll come from computer systems, education, utility, communication satellites, health care, and aerospace.

And airplanes. We're a diversified company. A big one. Our sales will run more than half a billion this year. They'll come from computer systems, education, utility, communication satellites, health care, and aerospace.

And airplanes. We're an aerospace business. We've built them for going on sixty years. Our planes scored the nation's top kill ratios against Zeros and again against MiG's. We've won the Thompson Trophy, the Collier Trophy, and the Doolittle Award.

Our chief exec is a reconstructed test pilot. We've got more fighter jockeys in management than any other company in the country.

Besides our attack airplanes, we're involved in the 747, S-3 and the DC-10 and the SST program to the tune of hundreds of millions of dollars. Our simulators are the finest in the country. So is our schedule performance. And our titanium capability is 24/7. And our record of coming up with growth designs.

This is where you ought to be if you're an AE, EE, ME, or IE with a thing about airplanes. Talk with our campus rep when he comes to your school. He'll be the guy with the long white scarf.

Or sit down and write us tonight. Address: College Relations Office, LTV Aerospace Corporation, P.O. Box 5007, Dallas, Texas 75222. We're an equal opportunity employer.

Campus interviews: Thurs-Fri March 5&6
