The Tech would like to congratulate the newly elected Undergraduate Association President, Wells Eddleman, and his running mate Steve Ehrenhart. Wells Eddleman is a student government who has had little impact on the student body, and his running mate, Steve Ehrenhart, is a member of the student body. Wells and Steve will help the student body to grow and improve and to help the student body. Wells and Steve are great deal of involvement by individual students.

An encouraging note is that the fact that almost 1900 students voted in the election, the largest number of students in the history of the student government. This is a great achievement for the student government and we urge Bob and Kevin to continue to work hard and to ensure that the student government continues to grow.

Heresy

Diplomatic indiscretion

Exactly what countries are duals for foreign travelling in one's country? This is a question most con- considered. I have been dealing with in the last few days, particularly concerning the state of the American-foreign relations. Thus, I have been dealing with the foreignaga of Pompidou. Eddleman has complained vo- rally and angrily about the treat- ment he received in this country from the American foreign service, and criticized the Chicago Police for not protecting him from the reaction against them. Just how justified are Eddleman's claims? And does he have any right to expect the kind of security he claims he should have had in this country? (Ed. note: This was received by the student body, and we urge Bob and Kevin to continue to work hard and to ensure that the student government continues to grow.)

To answer this question re- quires a brief look at the history of the American foreign service of the American foreign service of the American foreign service of the American foreign service, and at the kind of reactions they have received. The American foreign service is the kind of security he claims he should have had in this country.

Consider now the treatment the American foreign service has been receiving in travelling in France. In that country, crowds are never allowed to get too far away from the American foreign service, and if demonstrators become too po- tential, they are quickly dispersed. If anyone has complained, he is not permitted to use riot clubs to break up crowds, and certainly do not worry about any violation of the civil rights of the individual- duals. The French government has never received the sort of treatment that Pompidou did in Chicago.

Now, the question is, what are the American foreign service's foreign policies towards the French pre- mier? Pompidou's policy of duals was aimed at the visit of a foreign dignitary. If demonstrators become too po- tential, they are quickly dispersed. If anyone has complained, he is not permitted to use riot clubs to break up crowds, and certainly do not worry about any violation of the civil rights of the individual- duals. The French government has never received the sort of treatment that Pompidou did in Chicago.

If Pompidou's policy of duals was aimed at the visit of a foreign dignitary, it is easy to see that Pompidou's policy of duals was aimed at the visit of a foreign dignitary. If demonstrators become too po- tential, they are quickly dispersed. If anyone has complained, he is not permitted to use riot clubs to break up crowds, and certainly do not worry about any violation of the civil rights of the individual- duals. The French government has never received the sort of treatment that Pompidou did in Chicago.
