City Planning authorized to give undergrad degree

(continued from page 1) independent faculty similar to the Labs. Prof. Wiener said the faculty that size was not the goal but that he thought that the Health Care Center would not grow so large as to overshadow the educational purposes of the School. After considerable discussion and a Committee on Educational Policy enforcement, a standing vote was taken, favoring the acceptance of the proposal. The faculty was asked to consider the motion by creating a student-faculty committee to assist and receive the option of the School. The motion carried despite some reservations, led, by Prof. Wilbur Davenport, that the existence of such an arrangement would set the School of Health Sciences and Engineering apart from the other schools and lessen its stature.

Subsequent faculty action included authorizing the granting of undergraduate degrees to the School of Urban Studies and Planning, Professor John T. Howard, Head of the Department, presented the motion, which passed without significant debate. The faculty will then begin to grant B.S. degrees next year, but enrollment will be limited for two years and will expand as necessary funds become available.

Other business included the formation of a new faculty office, Associate Chairman of the Faculty, to assist and coordinate the efforts of the newly created Regional Committees. The meeting concluded with a motion by Professor Charles K. Crawford to instill an atmosphere of professional respect among faculty members, the motion was carried by one faculty member.

The best weapons of a democracy is openness. The best weapon of a dictatorship is secrecy. The best weapon of a democracy is openness. The best weapon of a dictatorship is secrecy. The best weapon of a democracy is openness. The best weapon of a dictatorship is secrecy. The best weapon of a democracy is openness. The best weapon of a dictatorship is secrecy. The best weapon of a democracy is openness. The best weapon of a dictatorship is secrecy. The best weapon of a democracy is openness.

Teller asks more research

(Continued from page 1) system and proposed three points that would aid our security:

The first point was that we should read our research. Stating that applied research is being conducted under the guise of advancing. We should claim more young people to go into research. If not, by 1980 we will be a second class power.

Next point was that we should focus on the most pressing issues of the day, and develop new weapons. The best weapon of a democracy is secrecy. The best weapon of a dictatorship is openness.

He said that the secrecy system would be a way of real agreement with the Soviet Union. In addition, it is useless, and we will not be able to keep forever, providing there's no one abroad who is clever.

Secondly, we should neglect our defenses and build them up. We should not ignore the fact that the Vietnam War is not going to be a cure-all for the world. The best weapon of a democracy is openness. The best weapon of a dictatorship is secrecy.

He said that he would report to the Plan to the Chairman in this context. We should create a more comprehensive system of national security. That system should be kept in a state of readiness. The best weapon of a democracy is openness. The best weapon of a dictatorship is secrecy.

The best weapon of a democracy is openness. The best weapon of a dictatorship is secrecy. The best weapon of a democracy is openness. The best weapon of a dictatorship is secrecy. The best weapon of a democracy is openness. The best weapon of a dictatorship is secrecy. The best weapon of a democracy is openness.

Shopowners begin clean-up

(Continued from page 1) ask MIT to part of the greatest suffering after the riot. In light of this, MIT's normal good relations with Cambridge are expected to become strained. NAC/TDA is considered to be the primary instigator of the violence, and Cambridge regards this group as MIT-based since last year's November Actions. Vellucci is known for his vehement speeches in City Council, criticizing MIT and Harvard.

Further, the areas were treated as the MIT temporaryefd night for wounds sustained in the battle at Harvard Square were reported by Thursday. In the square, on MASSACHUSETTS Avenue and on Mt. Auburn Street, shopowners were sweeping up broken glass and replacing their windows.

One store owner, however, said that he had heard from "someone who knows the Square" that there would be another Thursday night. He explained that he could see no reason to repair his broken windows until after the weekend with this possibility.

The Northeast Federal Savings and Loan Association, which was set afire Wednesday night, was missing several large windows on the first floor. One corner of the bank, near the seventh street, where the damage was confined to a small area. One bank official stated that damage estimates could not be made. Officials of the bank were cooperative with photographers.

The manager of Saks, Fifth Avenue, one of the more heavily looted stores on Mt. Auburn St., had closed his store for the day and was taking inventory of his stock. He was unwilling to give an estimate of the losses.

The streets themselves were largely clear of debris with the exception of piles of glass in front of a few stores. Traffic in the area was heavy and moving slowly, but the only evidence of the previous night's activities was the large number of glass trucks in the area. The Old Homestead and NAC/TDA offices were damaged by gangling rocks.

Want: a photographer, 4 hours work. April 26. $45. Call 491-2179.

For sale: '64 Rambler convertible. Best offer. 491-3179.

Does it hurt to chill beer twice?

Not that you'd want to. Sometimes it just happens... like after a picnic, or when you bring home a couple of cold 6-paks and forget to put 'em in the refrigerator. Does re-chilling goof up the taste or flatten the flavor?

Relax. You don't have to worry.

A really good beer like Budweiser is just as good when you chill it twice. We're mighty glad about that. We'd hate to think of all our effort going down the drain just because the temperature has its ups and downs.

You can understand why when you consider all the extra trouble and extra expense that go into brewing Bud. For instance, Budweiser is the only beer in America that's Beechwood aged.

So...it's absolutely okay to chill beer twice. You can understand why when you consider all the extra trouble and extra expense that go into brewing Bud. For instance, Budweiser is the only beer in America that's Beechwood aged.

Bravo! A mind-bending sparkler, shockingly brilliant.

- Cosmopolitan

Budweiser is the King of Beers.

(But you know that.)