Area panel reviews current draft laws

By Pete Materna

Ann Arbor, Mich. - Students who are at University of Michigan Wednes day to examine current draft laws and various suggested alterna tives.

The present draft laws which are scheduled to expire next year, will expire June 30, 1971. Thus, for the next two years, the department head, on panel for the Committee on Federal Commission ex- cide the draft laws, a legislation proposal which is to be introduced in the Senate, was already filled to the brim with the Peace Corps bill, student body to be opposed by a coalition of military and civilian students.

The panel involved the present draft laws and various suggested alterna tives. The panel concluded that the proposal is "based on the same premise as the draft laws" and that the proposal is still compulsory, the fixed period of time still makes it seem like a punishment, and the draft is in reality likely to be continued.

Condiffe declared that a volun tary draft law has been advocated two years ago in the Senate to get more liberal body than the House. While there is increasing sentiment in the country and the Congress for overall of the Selective Service System, the House Armed Services Committee and the Senate Armed Services Committee have been reluctant. Rivers pro-

Please turn to page 7

Search lacks student input

By Harvey Baker

Speaking at Harvard's Sanders Theater Monday night, Abba Eban, Foreign Minister of the State of Israel, called for the existence of two separate independent nations in the Middle East, both Israel and a Palestin ian state.

But, emphasized Eban, Israeli occupation of this Palestinian state is the spring up in its place, but rather would it be located on the East Bank of the Jordan.

"International cooperation and diplomacy," said Eban, "does not require national succ.

Capacity crowd

The audience of more than 2000 by the Harvard-Radcliffe Hillel Society, began at 5:00 p.m. and lasted for almost three hours. Eban and Sanders were already filled to capacity and hundreds of students had to be turned away. Leaves t for Israeli and pro-Arab or anti-Semitic students who were in the crowd with literature as they entered the hall, but it seemed to have little effect on them, provoking more irritation than anything else.

Eban proposes Arab state

By Harvey Baker

Speaking at Harvard's Sanders Theater Monday night, Abba Eban, Foreign Minister of the State of Israel, called for the existence of two separate independent nations in the Middle East, both Israel and a Palestinian state.

But, emphasized Eban, Israeli occupation of this Palestinian state is to spring up in its place, but rather would it be located on the East Bank of the Jordan.

"International cooperation and diplomacy," said Eban, "does not require national succ.

Capacity crowd

The audience of more than 2000 by the Harvard-Radcliffe Hillel Society, began at 5:00 p.m. and lasted for almost three hours. Eban and Sanders were already filled to capacity and hundreds of students had to be turned away. Leaves t for Israeli and pro-Arab or anti-Semitic students who were in the crowd with literature as they entered the hall, but it seemed to have little effect on them, provoking more irritation than anything else.

Eban proposes Arab state

By Harvey Baker

Speaking at Harvard's Sanders Theater Monday night, Abba Eban, Foreign Minister of the State of Israel, called for the existence of two separate independent nations in the Middle East, both Israel and a Palestinian state.

But, emphasized Eban, Israeli occupation of this Palestinian state is to spring up in its place, but rather would it be located on the East Bank of the Jordan.

"International cooperation and diplomacy," said Eban, "does not require national succ.

Capacity crowd

The audience of more than 2000 by the Harvard-Radcliffe Hillel Society, began at 5:00 p.m. and lasted for almost three hours. Eban and Sanders were already filled to capacity and hundreds of students had to be turned away. Leaves t for Israeli and pro-Arab or anti-Semitic students who were in the crowd with literature as they entered the hall, but it seemed to have little effect on them, provoking more irritation than anything else.

Eban proposes Arab state

By Harvey Baker

Speaking at Harvard's Sanders Theater Monday night, Abba Eban, Foreign Minister of the State of Israel, called for the existence of two separate independent nations in the Middle East, both Israel and a Palestinian state.

But, emphasized Eban, Israeli occupation of this Palestinian state is to spring up in its place, but rather would it be located on the East Bank of the Jordan.

"International cooperation and diplomacy," said Eban, "does not require national succ.

Capacity crowd

The audience of more than 2000 by the Harvard-Radcliffe Hillel Society, began at 5:00 p.m. and lasted for almost three hours. Eban and Sanders were already filled to capacity and hundreds of students had to be turned away. Leaves t for Israeli and pro-Arab or anti-Semitic students who were in the crowd with literature as they entered the hall, but it seemed to have little effect on them, provoking more irritation than anything else.