Vietnam vets face neglect, unemployment

...out of touch with the people he represents.

Kerry then listed the various problems facing the veteran during the war and the drugs many contracted while there. The treatment from the federal government, the setting unemployment rates for the veterans, the treatment of the local people, and the posting of the veteran's name on a list of people to be called for a greater amount of dedication on the part of the American people.

Specifically, he called for greater efforts and police to enact the notion held by a majority of the people that any attempt now to change "the man" will only result in the utility exemplified by previous attempts. He also called for a responsibility on the part of the politicians to act in the interest of the public, and stated that "we need an administration that finds it more important to call attention to the things that we are doing rather than look at them as in the present case."

It was quite possibly no mistake that Kerry had managed to alter the question of politics to be that which would most likely endorse either Senator Edmund Muskie, Senator George McGovern, or New York Mayor John Lindsay, all presidential hopefuls, for the upcoming Democratic Party nomination at the presidency.

With his speech dealing primarily with currently "hot" political issues, questions from the audience explored whether he indeed consider seeking the presidency in the near future.

A PAULIST DOESN'T WAIT TO BE ORDAINED TO GET INVOLVED.

If you think ordination is something that happens only in your senior year—and the time in between is similar to marking time—then you couldn't be more mistaken.

The Paulists were founded with the belief that each man is a member of the community and contributes his own thing. Each is an individual with his own talents and he is given the freedom to use them in his own way. But not later. Now.

For instance, during the novitiate, services were given in such diverse areas as hospitals, vocational rehabilitation centers and universities. They serve as seminary chaplains, co-retreat masters, religious teachers and psychiatric aids.

Paulist Seminarians create recreational programs, direct "Days of Resolution" for CCD students, direct film series, originate and edit the Paulist Free Press, coordinate Lenten programs, and organize Home Missions, to mention just a few.

When you commit yourself to the Paulists, it isn't a someday thing. It's now. Today.

For more information about the Paulists write to: Rev. Donald C. Campbell, C.S.P., Vocation Director, Room 300.
