An inquiry: the Valda Maeda case

(Continued from page 3) or her. Reay Freve believes that Valda claims that her boss, Reay Freve, frowned on her activities, Ms. Freve has never maintained that she interfered with her job as Slide Room assistant. Even conceding that execution — was justified. That there existed considerable animosity between Valda and Reay Freve, and between Valda and another professor, should not be minimized. The other library employees, cannot be denied. That some of these animosities were based on a lack of understanding or misunderstandings is most likely. All of this that determinations of the merits of the case will not deny that personal beliefs are political, and to the extent that Valda’s behavior was provoked, her superior was motivated by these beliefs, to that extent she could be characterized as political.

To begin to understand any of this it is necessary to consider Valda’s history as Slide Librarian. This is difficult for several reasons. It appears that Ms. Freve frowned on her activities, and that her behavior was characterized by a lack of initiative.
