Nyhart, Dean since 1969, will cover two related areas. First, he will serve as coordinator for investigating the scope and nature of law-related courses and promoting the development of new programs. Second, he will serve as Special Assistant to the Chancellor for pre-professional non-curricular programs.

The advance announcement by President Jerome W. Weiner yesterday morning to select student government members and the campus media represented the first in a series of changes over the next few months in the administration of student affairs. The move is aimed at "strengthening student-related programs and support services and unifying the administration of these activities under the office of the Chancellor."

Nyhart will work closely with the Office of the Provost and, in particular, with Assistant to the Provost Loin Mennard III, who has provided guidance and support for a wide range of student interests.

Nyhart will also be a member of the Committee on Preprofessional Advising and Education and will have administrative responsibilities in the office which supports that committee.

Eisenberg has been a member of the Medical Department psychiatric staff since 1966. She earned her M.D. degree from the University of Buenos Aires, Argentina, and took her specialty training in psychiatry at the University of Maryland and the Johns Hopkins hospital. She came to MIT from Johns Hopkins University where she was an Assistant Professor of Psychiatry and Pediatrics in the School of Medicine. Since 1969, Eisenberg has been a Lecturer in Psychiatry at the Harvard Medical School and Consultant in Psychiatry at Mass. General.

from Indochina." The group decided to focus their actions on organizing a rally Friday at noon, and on informing the community of all the ongoing activities in which they may take part.

At noon on Thursday, a caucus of faculty and employees was held in the Student Center. They reaffirmed the resolution of the Strike Steering Committee, stated above. They also organized groups to canvas faculty members proceeding today's faculty meeting. They will have another meeting today at noon in the Student Center West Lounge. Suggestions are welcome, and all faculty and staff are invited to attend. A meeting of employees and staff will be held at 5 p.m. today in the Student Center East Lounge, and there will be a big rally in front of the Student Center today.
