MIT defeated in final match

By Fred H. Hutchinson

In the final match of the second annual MIT invitational water polo tournament, MIT defeated Boston College 43-31 to finish fourth in the tournament.

The game was an exciting one, with both teams putting up a good fight. MIT scored early and often, with goals from several different players. Boston College tried to keep up, but were unable to match MIT's scoring pace.

In the end, MIT emerged victorious, with a final score of 43-31. The victory was a testament to the hard work and dedication of the MIT team, and a sign of things to come in the future.

MIT baseball nine win two games against BC

By Michael Garry

The Engineer baseball team triumphed in its first game of the season, defeating Boston College 6-3 to secure a crucial victory in the early stages of their campaign.

The game was a back-and-forth affair, with both teams showing great offensive and defensive prowess. However, MIT's strong pitching and solid defense ultimately proved too much for BC, as they claimed a well-deserved victory.

MIT's pitching was on point throughout the game, with a strong performance from their starting pitcher. The Engineers' defense also shined, with numerous key plays to preserve their lead.

In the second game of the doubleheader, MIT and BC played to a 5-5 tie, showcasing the competitive nature of the sport. Both teams showed great resolve and determination, with the game ending in a draw.

IM Tennis completes third week of match play

MIT’s intramural tennis season is in full swing, with matches being played every week. The current standings show a close competition between the teams, with no clear leader yet.

On September 24, the matches were played with a mix of singles and doubles games. The results showed a strong performance from both MIT and their opponents, with many close and exciting matches.

The next week, the matches will be played on the outdoor courts, and the teams will be challenged with adapting their strategies to the new environment. The intramural tennis season is shaping up to be an exciting one, with many more matches to come.
