Soccer wins shutout as team offense excels

By Sandy Yolke

MIT brought its season record in soccer to 2-3 Wednesday, with a 2-0 shutout of Brandeis. The game was clearly dominated by MIT, who had 44 shots on goal compared to Brandeis' 16.

Though there were no individual standouts, the MIT team played its best game of the year, with teamwork as its keynote. The MIT offense was more aggressive than it has been all season, following up on shots that did not score, and keeping the ball in the Brandeis penalty area. All this offensive activity kept the Brandeis goalie busy, as he registered 25 saves, several of them very good, particularly one in the far corner.

MIT's goalie, Ritchie Stskaff '74, who has done a very good job so far this season, had a relatively easy day, thanks to the excellent defense, with only five saves.

The first of MIT's goals came with 24:30 left in the first of the two forty-five minute halves which make up a soccer game. It was scored by Eref Unsal '75, on a shot placed in the penalty area. He kicked the ball into the open net from five feet out very early in the first period.

The next MIT home game is tomorrow at 2 pm against Lowell Tech, on Briggs Oval.

Eref Unsal '75, scoring the first of MIT's two goals in its 2-0 shutout of Brandeis Wednesday on Briggs Oval.

Crew looks to "The Head"

By David J. Katz

The eight annual Head of the Charles regatta will take place this Sunday, October 22, starting at 12 noon, on the Charles River. The Head is a three mile crew race beginning at the Boston University boathouse on Memorial Drive and going upstream past Harvard to the WBZ tower on Soldier's Field Road.

Stylisted after England's "Head of the River" races, the Head is a race against the clock for the 1400 participants from 76 schools and rowing clubs around the US and Canada. Since it is the first "big" regatta of the school year, many Midwestern schools will be coming to try out the competitors for their own regattas.

This year, MIT will be entering eight of the seventeen events. The varsity Heavyweights are entering the Elite 4 with cox, Intermediate 4 with cox, Intermediate 8, and pair without cox. The novice Lightweights will be entering two boats in the Lightweight 8's, and one in both the Lightweight 4 and the Pair without cox. Both Frosh crews will be entering two boats in the Junior 8's and one boat in the Intermediate 8's. The Women's crew will be entering one boat in the Women's 8's. The grad crew will be entering the Double sculls and the Elite 8's.

Some of the most famous outcomes of North America will be here Sunday to race in the Head. These include the Olympic Silver medal winners rowing in the Elite Eight Event under the colors of the Union Boat Club, and the Northeastern eight that won the Eastern Sprints and came in second to the Russians at the British Royal Henley, rowing in the same events. Rowing in the Elite Single will be last year's winner.

The MIT crew on to its first win of the season.

Harriers hurt by injuries; lose to Boston College

Midfortune struck last Friday as the MIT cross-country team lost to Boston College on both the varsity and junior varsity levels.

A cool, sunny day saw BC take eight of the first ten places in the varsity meet. Al Carlson '74 and John Kaufmann '73 ran personal bests as they placed second and third respectively. Injuries again hurt the Engineer team as Pete Borden '72, third man in the previous meet, was unable to run. Final score was MIT 53, BC 20.

On the J.V. level Mike Ryan '76 took first place with the outstanding time of 16:44. He was followed, however, by eight BC runners as MIT lost again, 20 to 33.
