November 7: end the war, corruption

1972 By Peter Pockensky
WASHINGTON, OCTOBER 25 — On November 7, the American people will decide what type of president we shall have in 1973.

Shall we have a president who stands for the moral precepts which have made America a great nation? Shall we have a president who will guarantee the welfare of the American people? Shall we have a president who will foster economic growth and progress? Shall we have a president who has integrity and honesty in his personal and public life? Shall we have a president who has the courage and determination to lead our country forward?

Committee to Re-elect the President son can maintain that Nixon did not provide military forces fully adequate to the situation, that he did not provide the proper equipment to our troops, that he did not provide the necessary intelligence to our military commanders, that he did not provide the necessary political leadership to bring about a peaceful solution to the Vietnam War.

Shall we have a president who will pursue an international foreign policy that we shall have a president who will suppress the North Vietnamese in their effort to unify Vietnam? Shall we have a president who will provide military forces fully adequate to the situation, that he did not provide the proper equipment to our troops, that he did not provide the necessary intelligence to our military commanders, that he did not provide the necessary political leadership to bring about a peaceful solution to the Vietnam War.

Shall we have a president who is in favor of a safe, clean, and efficient water system? Shall we have a president who can provide better public housing? Shall we have a president who can provide better schools for our children?
