IM football season finished

By Rich Hartman
(Following is a comment on this year's IM football season by the manager.)

The IM football season has ended, and with it ended another campaign of spirited play on the "gridirons of MIT." The season was marked by a significant number of injuries, which can be attributed to the better physical condition of those players, I doubt, or the lessening of a "blood-and-guts" style of play. Even in the league there were fewer injuries than last year. All-in-all I think that every A and B team will be properly prepared for the December, 1972 LSAT. Ensure that you can handle changes recently made to the LSAT. This course can improve your score significantly.

The University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration A representative of the Admissions Office will be on campus tomorrow, November 7, 1972, to discuss the Master of Business Administration degree program with students interested in management careers.

Appointments to meet with James B. Ard, Director of Admissions, may be made through the placement office.

The MBA degree program is a two-year course widely recognized as preparation for careers in the management of business government and other organizations.

College graduates with majors in liberal arts, humanities, social science, engineering, or other fields are eligible to apply if at least one mathematics course has been included in the undergraduate program.
