McGovern loses election

By Norman D. Sandler
After almost two full years of facing disconcerting polls and financial drawbacks, McGovern, the race for the White House concluded last week with a victory for George Stanley McGovern with a record landslide victory by President Richard M. Nixon.

True, the victory had been predicted for some time by Gallop, Harris, Yankelovich, Sin- dinger and all the other pollsters whose weekly releases sent the McGovens into quick dreamland. This was the losing ground, and campaign workers were assured that the election was going to be won and the gap between the South Dakota senator and Mr. Nixon was closing.

As it turns out, that gap did close slightly, but as far as the actual election was concerned, as Nixon took 49 states for a total of 531 electoral votes (out of 538; 270 needed to win), his victory is by no means a topper. Union fights for benefits

By Robert Nilsson
The Research, Development, and Technical Employees' Union and the Institute Personnel Office have completed 23 negotiation sessions in an attempt to work out a mutually suitable contract. As of the 23rd session, they have not reached an agreement with the Institute. As a result, the employees have decided to shut down the East Campus dormitory.

The situation arises due to several factors. One is the decision by the administration to close the East Campus dormitory. This decision has been met with resistance by the employees who feel that the closure is not necessary.

The second factor is the decision by the administration to reallocate the funds originally intended for the East Campus dormitory. This decision has been met with resistance by the employees who feel that the reallocation should be used to improve the facilities at the remaining dormitories.

The third factor is the decision by the administration to cut the salaries of the employees. This decision has been met with resistance by the employees who feel that the cuts are unfair and unreasonable.

The employees have decided to take these steps in an attempt to force the administration to agree to a contract that is fair and reasonable. They believe that this is the only way to protect their rights and interests.

The employees are prepared to strike if necessary to achieve their goals. They are committed to fighting for what they believe is fair and just, and they are ready to do whatever it takes to ensure that their voices are heard.

If you have any questions or concerns, please do not hesitate to contact the employees directly. They are always willing to discuss their goals and demands, and they are committed to working with you to find a solution that is fair and just for everyone involved.
