The department instituted a new more serious complaints.

sore throats, and shots, most commonplace in college health system. Today, this 'practice is introduced into the MIT medical system. The pediatric clintime at MIT and part-time in private practice. There are also clinics for dental care and for pediatrics. The dental clinic will, in certain cases, refer students to private practitioners in the Boston-Cambridge area due to a large case overload. The pediatric clinic is open daily in the infirmary.

The Medical Department ex-about 12,000 patients a year. For this 25,000 members of the MIT community, but all members. There are four attending physicians and over 50 part-time physicians on the staff. The Psychiatry Department has a full-time psychologist and two part-time sociologists.

the department's attitude. "We want to do is to help people take full advantage of the medical and mental health system. To do this, a doctor can see a student in five to ten minutes. The extra time means that each doctor can see more patients.

Surgeons

At the end of the current year, a significant number of the patients seen by the MIT psychiatrists will be offered the program of providing a more comprehensive system of care.

Several nurses have recently been appointed to the day shift. The evening nurse has assumed responsibility for the taking of the blood and seeing that the tests are performed. With the nurses, it is easier to help patients. Something is beginning to bother them, understand their problems, and the resources that are available to help them with the problems," stated Kahnle.

The system at MIT is a two-tier system. The first is the immediate level, if a person comes in and meets a staff psychiatrist that day is always available. It is as a check for suicide, but to see what is happening in the community.

He said that he knew of one suicide last year, although there is some possibility that more occurred. Suicides in American society are very rare and although suicide is one of the five highest causes of death to teenagers, the absolute number is so small that seemingly huge fluctuations frequently are not significant.

Family practice

The primary care program at MIT, a general program, would include all of the medical needs of the MIT community...

The new program will offer a two-week period each year. The first traditionally occurs during the pre-finals period from late November to December.

Whether this related to finals is questionable, for the same advice occurs in private practice throughout Greater Boston. It is also important to reconsider, as has the publication of articles of issues of苣.“The future of the MIT Medical Department is an important one. Our priority is to expand the medical care for 1000 families and to care for the entire MIT community. It seems that the trend in medicine is to the type of pre-paid group practice. The MIT system will offer complete coverage, similar to that presently received by students, to the families of 1000 MIT employees. Admission to the program will be offered to all MIT employees, staff, faculty, and maintenance people.

The new "screening test" will be offered to the entire MIT community. It is not a crisis program. It is a program to care for the entire community. This will be an experimental medical department.

In the past, there has not been an easy entrance for many patients at MIT into the medical system. The printing of a guide to the Medical Department is considered, as has the publication of articles of issues of the MIT community.

The facilities available for the MIT community are very rare and...
