on immediate problems as well as more specific procedures, facilities, and program planning, and budgets.

The form of the major projects last year was rewriting of the MITAA Constitution. The project had its initial push by 71-72 president John Kavanagh, a year ago. After several amendments it was ratified at the election meeting. Only the following substantive changes were in the final draft of the IM Council. Joel Bergman suggested an amendment regarding the whole article. The amendment was defeated after brief discussion.

The final decision of the motions was to have another meeting before the end of April; that meeting will be for the purpose of considering women's crew's new ideas. The motion passed and the meeting was adjourned.
