Fac mtg agenda

In addition to the MIT-Wellesley Exchange and housepass/pasfail/exchange, there will be other issues for discussion at today's faculty meeting.

The first order of business is a report of the Committee on Engineering. The report will cover a number of issues, including the size of the faculty, which has already been discussed elsewhere in this issue. In addition, the report will address the issue of the future of the residence exchange. The residence exchange is a topic of great importance to all students, and it is important that the faculty give it proper attention.

The next item on the agenda is the proposed changes to the student grading system. The proposal is to introduce a pass/fail grading system. This change is intended to encourage students to take risks and pursue their interests, without the fear of failing.

Another facet of the CEP recommendation is the introduction of work load for freshmen. This work load will be determined by the faculty, and it is hoped that it will be beneficial to all students.

In addition to these issues, the faculty will discuss and vote on the final report of the Ad Hoc Committee to study the residence exchange. The committee was sent to the faculty and the report will be discussed today.

The meeting will also include a presentation of the report of the MIT-Rochester Committee on Engineering. The committee was sent to the faculty and the report will be discussed today.

The meeting will conclude with a discussion of the budget for next year. The budget will be presented in a later meeting.

Recent changes in the faculty's attitude toward the residence exchange may present new problems that need to be addressed at today's faculty meeting.

The residence exchange was seen as more restrictive than the Wellesley-MIT Exchange, and it is important that the faculty give it proper attention.

Another issue raised by the Freshman Advisory Council is the idea of a Freshman Advisory Council for the Residence Exchange. The council would be responsible for the scheduling of the residence exchange.

The meeting will conclude with a presentation of the report of the Ad Hoc Committee to study the residence exchange. The committee was sent to the faculty and the report will be discussed today.

The meeting will conclude with a discussion of the budget for next year. The budget will be presented in a later meeting.
