IFC ponders rush, discusses froshcomm

By Howard D. Sitzer

The Inter-Fraternity Council held its first meeting of the semester to discuss an immediate matter of concern to the fraternity that year. In addition to the Rush evaluation, the IFC discussed the proposed Froshcomm, a charity fund drive, recruiting a fraternity tutor committee, and the Judcomm, which is the Judicial Committee.

The figure compared "favorably" with past years despite an entering class of less than 900. The IFC observed through a preliminary study that there was a large amount of cross-overs among the houses, and houses that re-employed a strong commuter rush fared well. A "troubled list" reference circled among the fraternity, an indication that the fall, proved helpful for houses that were to trouble in the early stages. Unlike recent years, this fall many freshmen pledged during the latter part of the year rather than immediately after receiving local offers.

The IFC Froshcomm will apply for a state charter permitting rather than a policy council committee once it is organized. Each house is required to send one representative, selected by its freshman class. The main purpose of the Froshcomm will be to recruit people into the IFC with no previous experience, establish an internal work force, and generate interest in the Council.

There were several suggestions made that included work on behalf of a specific charity. The membership has the option of approving a collective IFC function or operating through separate chapters. The latter part of the year will be devoted to recruiting people into the 1FC Froshcomm.

Affairs, 383 freshmen decided to enter class of less than 900. Each house will be required to live in fraternities. According to Ken Rourke, who is pleased with this year's pledge drive, reinstituting a fraternity term. In addition to the Rush Week and plan activities for the estimated capacity of $500 per violation.

The Inter-Fraternity Council discusses

Ten Departments

By Margaret Brandeau

MIT, CAMBRIDGE, MASSACHUSETTS

Brookline Police Chief James C. Renier has issued a warning to all students living in Brookline that fines curfew violations. Jaglom, heading up the Judcomm, would not discuss any further development in the investigation because "everything that I've been sensing has somehow been finding its way into The Daily" the newspaper.

The Council also listened to a by Drew Lauricella, Student Center Dining Manager, the dining service will try to keep prices as low as possible. Stated that dining service will try to keep prices as low as possible. "A lot of course, depends on what will happen with food prices," he added.

The number of students now subscribing to commons is eight to ten percent over dining service projections at the end of the regular four-week trial period. In Baker House 240 students are on commons; in Walker there are 225; in MacGregor, 231; in Lobell, 112.

I think the dining service loses money, but the Institute replaces the loss, according to Brummer. Though le croce prices were raised on August 13, Brummer stated that dining service will try to keep prices as low as possible. "A lot of course, depends on what will happen with food prices," he added.

Some students have complained that the dining halls are overcrowded during meals. However, according to Salvatore Lauricella, Student Center Dining Manager, the dining service is not facing capacity at lunch. "In fact," he said, "we could very easily feed another 150 to 200 people with no strain."

Lauricella said that there are many times between 11 am and 2 pm when there are few people in the dining halls. He attributed overcrowding to the fact that most people are in the habit of eating lunch at the same time every day.

While some corporations run subsidized employee dining rooms, employees of MIT who enter the Stata Center cafeterias pay a

Dining prices held stable

By Margaret Brandeau

"Although food prices have risen in recent months, the commons price will hold throughout the year," says Eugene Brummer, Director of Housing and Food Services.

Registration Statistics

Third day (9/14) unoffiicial figures from the Registrar's Office. Followed is the number in the fifth week of the year.

Total enrollments: 7550

School of Architecture and Planning: 438 192
School of Engineering: 2911 1347
School of Science and Social Science: 484 163
School of Management: 484 123
School of Science: 2125 116

First-year Students: 490

Top Ten Departments

Economics: 159
Engineering: 130
Physics: 122
Management: 40
Civil Engineering: 38
Mechanical Engineering: 34
Chemistry: 33
Architecture: 26
Chemical Engineering: 24

Accounting: 200
Economics: 177
Urban Studies: 144
Political Science: 114

(provided in a $5 fine. The other law which I would like to bring to the attention of out-of-state students is Section 3 of Chapter 90 of the General Laws of the Commonwealth. In summary, this law provides that every non-resident student enrolled as a student at a school or college in the Commonwealth, who operates a motor vehicle registered in another state or country, shall file in triplicate with the Police Department of the city or town in which such school or college is located, a Non-Resident Student Vehicle Information Form. The student is also obliged to maintain in full force a policy of liability insurance.

To further to comply with the provisions of this law may subject the non-resident to a fine up to $100. It is important for the public safety and the convenience of all motorists that non-residents become aware of these laws and endeavor to comply with them."

"I thank you for your cooperation in this matter and wish you a safe, happy and productive school year,

Sci-fi writer coming; LSC sponsors talk

By Paul Schiffer

Who is Theodore Sturgeon, besides being the speaker at a free LIC (Lancaster Science Committee) lecture in Kresge Auditorium at 8:15 pm Monday, Sept. "Any Questions?"

Three of five people called in a random The Tech poll had never heard of him, so it is obvious that some more information needs to be made available to the community. It is clear that he authored two episodes of "Star Trek," which does not make him terribly unique, and that he wrote More Than Human and frontal Plus X, which does make him unique, as no other can claim to have written these novels, according to Burke.

There are a couple of other things that Sturgeon is: 55, native of New York City, former circus aerialist, former hotel manager, billboard operator, glam-truck driver, salesman and editor, all according to one of his book's dust jackets.

Even that list does not particularly establish his place as an author. After all, widely experienced people tend to make good writers. -Huntington Springs to mind, as does Mark Twain, who worked on both a riverboat and a newspaper before he learned to write. It is easier, of course, to use the descriptions of others for this man I have never met, Damon Knight called him "the most accomplished technician this field has produced, but nobody, not even Bradbury,"

One book jacket calls him "the most widely anthologized living science fiction writer, the man for appearances in over 50 collections and at least six languages, James Blish raved, "he

(Prose)