The controversial Club of Rome study done last year by MIT Presidents Jay Forrester and Dennis Meadows, in advance. He added, "If every President were to be impeached for he, said, "I think he's a man of limited vision, of limited belief in the Constitution. I think that the Vice-President should be a man who supports the Constitution fully." Deschowit added however, that he can find any basis for opposing Ford, "in a democracy we have to support what the people give us. The people gave us Nixon, and Nixon gave us Ford."

Deschowitz teaches criminal law and crime prevention at Harvard Law School. He has also appeared on the television discussion show "The Advo-cate."
