85 papers print editorial calling for impeachment

By Mike McNamee

The impeachment of Richard Nixon is prerequisite to the restoration of confidence in our system of government," according to an editorial written by the editors of the Andover Student.

"The President must be impeached," the editorial, which was endorsed by 84 other college newspapers including The Tech (10/26), across the country, stated. "No amount of legal double-talk or political tidiness can obscure this fact."

According to Robert Steinbrook, Chairman of the Student, and Robert McCartney, Staff Editor, the editorial, which was written in response to Nixon's firing of Archibald Cox on October 25, was endorsed by papers from 29 states, representing a student population of over 1 million.

Copies of the editorial, with a list of the endorsing newspapers, were sent to members of Congress last week, and a press release describing the campaign was distributed to the mass media.

According to Steinbrook and McCartney, the editorial was originally sent out to approximately 250 colleges and universities across the country. It was published and endorsed by papers ranging from the Kansas State University Student Collegian to the Cal Tech Tech to the Yale Daily News. These 85 papers have a total circulation of approximately 700,000 and serve populations totaling over one million.

According to the Student editors, most of the signatory newspapers said that pre-impeachment feeling is strong on their campuses. The letter being sent to Congress states:

"At a time when popular conversation and discussion concerning impeachment of President Nixon. The letter being sent to Congress states:

"At a time when popular conversation and discussion concerning impeachment of President Nixon are more widespread than ever, the mandate of 1973 has been based on a legacy of illegitimacy, hypocrisy and deceit."

It went on to state:

"The impeachment of Richard Nixon is prerequisite to the restoration of confidence in our system of government."

Robert L. Heilbronner, of the New School of Social Research, told a Technology and Culture Seminar last week that the world faces three major problems in its long-term future: the problems of explosive population growth, nuclear conflagration, and deterioration of the environment. As an example, he cited predictions that the population of Asia will reach 6.5 million people. Respondents were Dean Harold Harshman and Professor Paul Samuelson.

Photo by Richard Wolfe

Mass. auto insurance, explained.

Mass. auto insurance can get a little complicated.

And if you're under 25, it can get expensive.

We'll simplify things. And we'll help you keep your premiums as low as possible.

W. T. Phelan & Co.

Insurance Agency, Inc.
12 Beacon St., Boston Square to the 16, 60, 69.
334 MAAS. AVE. Cambridge

MORE THAN ONE UPON A TIME

ONCE, A KNIGHT, IN ORDER TO GET CLOSER TO THE EARTH, EAT TOMATOES, AND PICK UP A FEW CREDITS, DID JOIN THE MEDIEVAL U. AGRICULTURAL COMMUNE.

WHERE HE TOOK TO THE CHORES AT HAND WITH DETERMINATION.

AND COURAGE.

AND DISPLAYED A KEEN MIND FOR INNOVATION.

AND HE DID JOIN HIS FELLOW STUDENT FARMERS ON AN EVENINGS HAYRIDE (THEIR WAGON STOCKED WITH PLENTY OF FROSTY-COLD SCHNEIDER BEER, THE BEER WITH FLAVOR THEY COULD DEPEND ON NOT TO PAID THE WHOLE NIGHT LONG).

AND SOON, HE DID COMPLETE HIS TRAINING AND WAS ASSIGNED TO THE TASKS MOST SUITABLE TO HIS ABILITIES.

WHEN YOU'RE HAVING MORE THAN ONE