New house residents may stay in 'Y' in Sept.

(Continued from page 1)

grater as much as possible.

Adshun House is housing students for the new dorm this year, and may have more undergraduate graduates crowded into it next fall. "If we use Adshun, it will be overcrowded," said Wheatley, because "if we take it away from grad students, we should use it as well as possible.

Members of the faculty and staff may also be making their homes available to several students. While a program has been underway this year to house individual students with volunteer family, according to K Sabra-chamberlain told

"lifetime savings" for an Indian student, because "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.

She noted that since this would be a short-term housing situation, "the amount of commitment to people is much less than for a term."

According to Wheatley, the Dean's Office is currently looking for people who would like to move into the new dorm. "Interested people should contact me," she said.