Police Blotter

Police Blotter is a compilation prepared by Campus Patrol to report crimes occurring in the MIT community.

Armed Robberies Ended
A recent rash of armed robberies, committed by a male wielding a trade weapon, car stealing youth, came to an abrupt end last weekend with the capture of an escapee from the Westboro State Hospital. The suspect, a juvenile, had been arrested in connection with a series of similar crimes several weeks ago, and was committed to Westboro by Court order. Escaping from that institution, he made his way back to the Cambridge area, where he resumed his car stealing and armed robbery spree. During that time he did considerable damage. He was spotted early one morning by a Patrol Officer in the Westgate I parking lot, as he was in the process of stealing yet another car. As the Officer approached, the suspect threw the car into gear, gunned the engine, and headed for the Office in an attempt to run him down that nearly succeeded. At large for a short time thereafter, he was recaptured in East Cambridge, and returned to the Hospital, where he is undergoing treatment, and awaiting trial.

Pocketscope Stolen
As reported earlier this week, a rare visual aid for the nearly blind was stolen last week from an office in the Main Complex. The Campus Patrol is investigating the incident.

Operation Bolt-Down Works Again

An IBM Selectric was the object of a thief's attention in a Main Complex office over the past weekend. Fortunately the machine had been bolted to a desk, and thus the attempt was foiled.

East Student Call Results in Arrests
A call from an alert student early Tuesday morning, advising the Patrol of two persons lurking near the bicycle rack at Banks Hall, resulted in the apprehension moments later of the two, as they headed across the Harvard Bridge with a stolen bicycle and a box full of tools that was subsequently reported stolen from one of the Institute workshops. What made this arrest possible was the fast action of a concerned community member in calling the Police when he spotted suspicious conditions. This kind of community involvement and concern is the single most important factor in the fight to make the community a safe place in which to live and work. Community involvement is the key.
