Gun-carrying assailant injures officer in Bldg. 7

out over police radio network and three officers were heading for Lobby 7 within minutes, the Patrol said. Sgt. William Lyons, a plainclothes investigator for the Patrol, came into the lobby from the main corridor. Seeing that Doherty was ignoring passers-by and was leading a woman by the arm, with a gun, cutting Lyons. Lyons struggled with Doherty until the officers helped to take Doherty's gun from him. No weapon was found on Doherty, and he was treated by the Medical Department for a cut on his forearm.

Campus Patrol said that although Doherty had taken Henninger's belt, he "seemed to have decided to give it back just before Lyons stopped him, telling him to leave the lobby."

District Patrol said that it is not unusual for officers to be called to the lobby for a disturbance.

Henniger "I really don't want to talk about it."

"Some people didn't even notice," he said to one student. The Tech - Lyons waved the uniformed officers and moved behind Doherty.
