INVENTORS OF ELECTRONIC GAMES

New England manufacturer of electronic and electromechanical products plans to widen its product base and scope. Our strategy of expansion is creating opportunities for electronic games inventors with ideas, patents, prototypes for working models that may benefit from our engineering, production, and marketing capabilities. If you have a product that could prove mutually interesting we invite your inquiry which will be held confidential and on a non-disclosure basis.

Send your reply, including a general statement about your games, to:

MIT can teach you something you may have never thought you could learn.

The subject is leadership. The course is Army ROTC. The entire curriculum is exciting, challenging, and flexible. So flexible that, if qualified, you can enter at any time during your first two years on campus.

Through practical experience, you will learn how to lead. The acquired discipline of mind and spirit and the ability to perform under pressure are important. The people who demonstrate these qualities are the people we want to become Army officers.

As an Army officer, you will not only have to manage people but money and materials as well. To make more important planning decisions than most young executives.

At MIT, you can learn what it takes to lead.
