Two new living groups forming

By Chuck Humphrey

In an effort to relieve overcrowding, according to the housing system caused by enrollment increases, Dean G. A. Browning '86 is helping band two new living groups to form.

A new women's and new women's living groups are currently being organized, according to Associate Dean for Student Affairs Anne Thompson, Assistant Dean for Student Affairs Anna Thomson, and assistant assistant dean for student affairs Alice Seeling. One assistant assistant dean for student affairs Nancy Wheatley. The two new living groups will be located in a Cambridge building owned by MIT that is currently being used as apartments.

Browning said that the new living groups, which would house about 50 people, should be ready by the fall of 1977 at the latest.

A group of women on campus are trying to form an independent women's living group. Associate Director of Financial Aid Dorothy Bowers said that the group is in the "plausibility" stage and that the organizers are looking for a home for the living group. They have looked at a Cambridge building owned by MIT that is currently being used as apartments, but "we wouldn't want to kick anybody out," she said.

Bowers told the Tech that organizers of the living group - Elizabeth Drake, Assistant Dean for Student Affairs Anne Thompson, Assistant Dean for Student Affairs Alice Seeling, and Assistant Assistant Dean for Student Affairs Nancy Wheatley - would like to get some funds from the Institute as well as from alumni.

Zimmerman said that there was "no hope of getting living space in the fall" for the group, although it might be possible to house the group in a floor of a fraternity or sorority wing of the building that would eventually become theirs.

The fraternity Pi Kappa Alpha has received permission to go ahead, and currently has four women. In order to rush freshwomen next year, they must get at least one more upper-classwoman, a PIKA official stated. They are fairly sure of getting one, he added.

Folk Concerts

The M I T Musical Theatre Guild Presents
Eve's: Fri. & Sat. April 9 & 10 8pm Mats: Sat. April 10 2pm Kresge Auditorium
Adults $3.50 (One Dollar Off With M I T I.D.) Children Under 12 $2.00 Accompanied By Adult For Reservations Call 253-6294

NEW ENGLAND WOMEN'S SERVICE
Licensed by the Commonwealth of Mass.

abortion counseling birth control gynecology

free pregnancy tests 738-1370

1031 Beacon Street, Brookline

In The Nation This Week

THE AMERICAN MERCENARIES

Today, post-war recession, inflation and unemployment have set adrift a small army of veterans who are for sale in the United States.

"They do not yet make up a coherent political movement, but their special weaponry, special skills and special disemployment are very real. They rather ominously constitute a community of "fighting men" imbued with right-wing ideology who are for sale in the United States."

From an article in this week's Nation

The Nation, 332 Sixth Avenue, NYC 10014 Special rates for students

Hearings for student positions on

The Committee on Discipline

and

The Committee on Visual Arts

Will be held on Monday, April 12, according to the following schedule:
7:30pm COD Earle Lomon, Ch. x3-4877
student members John Thain 247-8124 and
Vic Franchiewicz 5-6572
8:30pm CVA Wayne Anderson, Ch. x3-7615

Hearings will be held in Room 400 of the Student Center. Call the listed chairmen or secretaries for committee information, and the UA secretary (x3-2966) for hearing information.