Lacrosse tops Brandeis

By Glenn Brownstein

Boast with injuries, absences, and inelegibilities, a personnel-depleted varsity lacrosse team banded together in its final game of the season and bested Brandeis, 10-6, in Waltham Saturday afternoon. Although only 15 of the more-than-20 varsity players were able to participate (MIT was short two attacksmen and a third midfield), the Engineers built a 6-1 halftime lead and hung on throughout the second half.

Joe Singer '77 completed MIT's third successful varsity season, making 30 saves to raise his career total to 724. Singer, voted Most Valuable Player for the second consecutive year and co-captain next year with Renshaw, was the key to three of MIT's victories and kept the varsity in many other contests.

Next year's prospects appear bright, as the team only loses two seniors, Paul Pilorz and co-captain defenseman Greg Tourgee, who completed an excellent season despite two separations, shoulders and a back. With the expected return of potent shooter Steve Hyland '76, ineligible for much of this year, and All-New England nominee Singer, the Engineers could enjoy their first .500 season in nearly a decade next year.

Despite sophomore Liz Kendall's singles win, the MIT women's tennis team lost to Salem State, 4-3.
