Getting around Boston: singing the MBTA blues

By Glenn Brownstein

If you've had some difficulty getting around Boston or Cambridge recently, you may have noticed a new taxicab strike (kicked Wednesday, about 3:30 p.m.) and cab boycott of Logan Airport (for a few days last week) so doubt made it hard to get around the local area, especially for the MBTA stops running.

What the cabies are upset about is a new limousine service con-...
