Smith sculpture coming soon

By Katy Grupp

"We're not going to force this thing any longer," said former Chairman of the Committee on the Visual Arts Wayne Anderson to a group of TANG and Westgate resident wednesday night during a meeting to discuss the TNY Smith sculpture which is to be installed near TANG and Westgate in November.

This meeting was called to give residents an idea of what the sculpture will look like and to get their opinions about the proposed temporary placement of the sculpture, which will be between the walkways leading to the residence halls.

The permanent site for the sculpture will be between New House and a planned new dormitory, unless students object to moving it from the temporary site.

The temporary site is needed because the new dormitory will be built on the site of the old. And until the asphault is removed there is no place to put the sculpture.

Some residents objected that they had no say at all as to the installation of a sculpture.

Anderson explained that funds are set aside for the placement of art works at or near all new MIT buildings. The funds from New House had to be allocated by the time the dormitory had been built.

Since the acquisition of a major piece of sculpture takes time, planning for it began two years ago. He pointed out that it was difficult to utilize student comments at the planning stage because by the time a work of art is installed, those students might not be at MIT anymore and their views might not reflect the feelings of the current student population.

He also noted that most of the comments received by the Committee were negative and that positive suggestions and comments were most welcome.

The sculpture was a gift from the artist and other donors. MIT is paying only the cost of fabrication, shipping, and installation.

Recurrent Offender

A police report says the pair was wanted in Suffolk County in connection with Grand Larceny. At the time of the arrest the next morning it was discovered that one of the pair was wanted in Suffolk County on a hostage charge. The same day the case was scheduled for later this month.

A Recurrent Offender

A Recurrent Offender had been rearrested in the duPont Athletic Building and charged with Disorderly Conduct and Criminal Trespass. He was a man with a history of arrests at MIT dating back ten years, when he was first arrested while presenting the upper floor of an East Campus dormitory in the middle of the night. In the intervening years he was arrested here on several occasions; he has become well-known to MIT police.

His reappearance of late ended an absence of nearly a year. At the time of his arrest it was discovered that he has been sought for a short time by Middlesex County officials on charges of check forgery. Tried on October 1, he was convicted of both MIT charges and sentenced to 30 days in the House of Corrections, which sentence the judge suspended. Trial on the forgery charge is scheduled for early November.
