Biko death questions raised – South African Justice Minister James Kruger said that the police may have guilty of irregularities in the death of Steven Biko, an activist in the “black consciousness” movement. The President is not against breeders. There are many fuel cycles which breed. What the President is saying is that we have enough time and money to do quite a lot of money, to investigate these alternative fuel cycles, and we'll finally make a decision about which route to go in terms of uranium supply extension. We'll be based on a firm foundation of research before we start spending money on development.

Anti-abortion bill gains support – The Massachusetts Senate was two votes shy of the necessary 24 votes needed to override Governor Michael Dukakis' veto of the Anti-Abortion Bill. However, the House attached the bill to $17 million supplemental budget as an amendment by a vote of 141 to 67. Bill cuts off the use of state funds for abortions except when the mother's life is in danger.
