news roundup

World

Israelis deride US-USSR statement — The joint US-Soviet statement on the Middle East peace talks, which expressed a favorable attitude to Palestinian representation in Geneva and toward a Palestinian state, has met with widespread Israeli criticism. Finance Minister Simha Eshcol called the statement "not acceptable" and the leaders of the opposition parties agree. Arab groups have greeted the statement with approval.

Nation

Gas filibuster ends — Senators opposed to the bill for deregulating natural gas prices have agreed to end their filibuster and allow the Senate to vote on the measure. Soon after Vice President Walter Mondale's ruling against the amendments that opposition leaders were using to delay the vote.

Many workers face job dangers — The results of a Federal survey of occupational hazards has revealed that one-fourth of the American work force is exposed to materials capable of causing cancer or death. The report had been delayed three to five years since many substances were listed only by trade names, but only a few areas of hazard have come under tight controls since the data was gathered.

Japanese steel companies cited — The Treasury Department has ruled that five major Japanese steel companies must post bonds for "dumping duties" until their case has been considered. They have been accused of unfair pricing for selling heavy structural steel in the U.S. at a substantial loss.

State

Cadets to fight suspension — Three students at the Massachusetts Maritime Academy were suspended for a year without appeal on charges of absence from their ship without leave, entered into the off-limits freshman section of the dorm, and conduct unbecoming a cadet. On the grounds that the were found guilty by the hearing and unable to confront their accuser, the hake decided to fight the decision.
