PLO representative will not speak

By Mark James

A talk that was to be given tonight by Palestinian Liberation Organization (PLO) delegate Shafik Allam has triggered protests from many Jews on campus.

Allam was scheduled to speak at 8:00 p.m. in the East Campus Union, but he did not appear.

Several students, some members of the Junior Jewish Student Movement who had been invited to Allam's talk, said that "the voice of the PLO in any form does not belong on our campus." They noted that the PLO has been accused of supporting terrorism.

Another speaker may be scheduled for tomorrow night, but no plans have been announced.

Staff sexuality rated at U. of Wisconsin

By Daniel Shevitz

Daniel Shevitz said last night, "We have to be more aware of the sexuality of our students and staff." He added that this is especially important to developing universities.

The University of Wisconsin has been criticized for its "profound influence on students," said Shevitz. "We live at MIT."

Researcher's project to capture and store solar energy

By Robert Wasserman

The University of Wisconsin has rescheduled its "Monte Python Meets Beyond the Fringe" for October 21. This showing will be the New England premiere of the film.

Earlier this month, LSC canceled the screening of "Beyond the Fringe" because of controversy over its "profound influence on students," said Frank Press, science advisor to President Carter. The film has been criticized for its "profound influence on students," said Press.

Press stressed that we do, in good faith, believe this will come about. "The Crawford Committee has rescheduled the film because of its "profound influence on students," Press said. "We live at MIT."

The October 7 showing at the Orson Welles Cinema would have been the New England Premiere of the film.

Show times for MIT and Wellesley I.D. holders at 8:00 and 12:00 p.m., and $1.00 at the door. Admission is $2.50. Additional shows are scheduled for October 16 and October 23.

Press expressed interest in the film's "profound influence on students," said Press. "We live at MIT."

A talk that was to be given tonight by Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) delegate Shafik Allam has triggered protests from many Jews on campus.

Allam was scheduled to speak at 8:00 p.m. in the East Campus Union, but he did not appear.

Several students, some members of the Junior Jewish Student Movement who had been invited to Allam's talk, said that "the voice of the PLO in any form does not belong on our campus." They noted that the PLO has been accused of supporting terrorism.

Another speaker may be scheduled for tomorrow night, but no plans have been announced.

Staff sexuality rated at U. of Wisconsin

By Daniel Shevitz

Daniel Shevitz said last night, "We have to be more aware of the sexuality of our students and staff." He added that this is especially important to developing universities.

The University of Wisconsin has been criticized for its "profound influence on students," said Shevitz. "We live at MIT."

Researcher's project to capture and store solar energy

By Robert Wasserman

The University of Wisconsin has rescheduled its "Monte Python Meets Beyond the Fringe" for October 21. This showing will be the New England premiere of the film.

Earlier this month, LSC canceled the screening of "Beyond the Fringe" because of controversy over its "profound influence on students," said Frank Press, science advisor to President Carter. The film has been criticized for its "profound influence on students," said Press.

Press stressed that we do, in good faith, believe this will come about. "The Crawford Committee has rescheduled the film because of its "profound influence on students," Press said. "We live at MIT."

The October 7 showing at the Orson Welles Cinema would have been the New England Premiere of the film.

Show times for MIT and Wellesley I.D. holders at 8:00 and 12:00 p.m., and $1.00 at the door. Admission is $2.50. Additional shows are scheduled for October 16 and October 23.

Press expressed interest in the film's "profound influence on students," said Press. "We live at MIT."

A talk that was to be given tonight by Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) delegate Shafik Allam has triggered protests from many Jews on campus.

Allam was scheduled to speak at 8:00 p.m. in the East Campus Union, but he did not appear.

Several students, some members of the Junior Jewish Student Movement who had been invited to Allam's talk, said that "the voice of the PLO in any form does not belong on our campus." They noted that the PLO has been accused of supporting terrorism.

Another speaker may be scheduled for tomorrow night, but no plans have been announced.

Staff sexuality rated at U. of Wisconsin

By Daniel Shevitz

Daniel Shevitz said last night, "We have to be more aware of the sexuality of our students and staff." He added that this is especially important to developing universities.

The University of Wisconsin has been criticized for its "profound influence on students," said Shevitz. "We live at MIT."

Researcher's project to capture and store solar energy

By Robert Wasserman

The University of Wisconsin has rescheduled its "Monte Python Meets Beyond the Fringe" for October 21. This showing will be the New England premiere of the film.

Earlier this month, LSC canceled the screening of "Beyond the Fringe" because of controversy over its "profound influence on students," said Frank Press, science advisor to President Carter. The film has been criticized for its "profound influence on students," said Press.

Press stressed that we do, in good faith, believe this will come about. "The Crawford Committee has rescheduled the film because of its "profound influence on students," Press said. "We live at MIT."

The October 7 showing at the Orson Welles Cinema would have been the New England Premiere of the film.

Show times for MIT and Wellesley I.D. holders at 8:00 and 12:00 p.m., and $1.00 at the door. Admission is $2.50. Additional shows are scheduled for October 16 and October 23.

Press expressed interest in the film's "profound influence on students," said Press. "We live at MIT."

A talk that was to be given tonight by Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) delegate Shafik Allam has triggered protests from many Jews on campus.

Allam was scheduled to speak at 8:00 p.m. in the East Campus Union, but he did not appear.

Several students, some members of the Junior Jewish Student Movement who had been invited to Allam's talk, said that "the voice of the PLO in any form does not belong on our campus." They noted that the PLO has been accused of supporting terrorism.

Another speaker may be scheduled for tomorrow night, but no plans have been announced.

Staff sexuality rated at U. of Wisconsin

By Daniel Shevitz

Daniel Shevitz said last night, "We have to be more aware of the sexuality of our students and staff." He added that this is especially important to developing universities.

The University of Wisconsin has been criticized for its "profound influence on students," said Shevitz. "We live at MIT."

Researcher's project to capture and store solar energy

By Robert Wasserman

The University of Wisconsin has rescheduled its "Monte Python Meets Beyond the Fringe" for October 21. This showing will be the New England premiere of the film.

Earlier this month, LSC canceled the screening of "Beyond the Fringe" because of controversy over its "profound influence on students," said Frank Press, science advisor to President Carter. The film has been criticized for its "profound influence on students," said Press.

Press stressed that we do, in good faith, believe this will come about. "The Crawford Committee has rescheduled the film because of its "profound influence on students," Press said. "We live at MIT."

The October 7 showing at the Orson Welles Cinema would have been the New England Premiere of the film.

Show times for MIT and Wellesley I.D. holders at 8:00 and 12:00 p.m., and $1.00 at the door. Admission is $2.50. Additional shows are scheduled for October 16 and October 23.

Press expressed interest in the film's "profound influence on students," said Press. "We live at MIT."

A talk that was to be given tonight by Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) delegate Shafik Allam has triggered protests from many Jews on campus.

Allam was scheduled to speak at 8:00 p.m. in the East Campus Union, but he did not appear.

Several students, some members of the Junior Jewish Student Movement who had been invited to Allam's talk, said that "the voice of the PLO in any form does not belong on our campus." They noted that the PLO has been accused of supporting terrorism.

Another speaker may be scheduled for tomorrow night, but no plans have been announced.

Staff sexuality rated at U. of Wisconsin

By Daniel Shevitz

Daniel Shevitz said last night, "We have to be more aware of the sexuality of our students and staff." He added that this is especially important to developing universities.

The University of Wisconsin has been criticized for its "profound influence on students," said Shevitz. "We live at MIT."

Researcher's project to capture and store solar energy

By Robert Wasserman

The University of Wisconsin has rescheduled its "Monte Python Meets Beyond the Fringe" for October 21. This showing will be the New England premiere of the film.

Earlier this month, LSC canceled the screening of "Beyond the Fringe" because of controversy over its "profound influence on students," said Frank Press, science advisor to President Carter. The film has been criticized for its "profound influence on students," said Press.

Press stressed that we do, in good faith, believe this will come about. "The Crawford Committee has rescheduled the film because of its "profound influence on students," Press said. "We live at MIT."

The October 7 showing at the Orson Welles Cinema would have been the New England Premiere of the film.

Show times for MIT and Wellesley I.D. holders at 8:00 and 12:00 p.m., and $1.00 at the door. Admission is $2.50. Additional shows are scheduled for October 16 and October 23.

Press expressed interest in the film's "profound influence on students," said Press. "We live at MIT."

A talk that was to be given tonight by Palestine Liberation Organization (PLO) delegate Shafik Allam has triggered protests from many Jews on campus.

Allam was scheduled to speak at 8:00 p.m. in the East Campus Union, but he did not appear.

Several students, some members of the Junior Jewish Student Movement who had been invited to Allam's talk, said that "the voice of the PLO in any form does not belong on our campus." They noted that the PLO has been accused of supporting terrorism.

Another speaker may be scheduled for tomorrow night, but no plans have been announced.