In the set, crumple players and the goal line; scores, and her tackles were often offensive, and defensively. She helped to set up some of Tech's final four points, a rare occurrence, but often the only score between UConn players and the goal line. Forwards Barbara Kastins and Silvia Borgen played outstanding games and were particularly good on the wing and back line. Robin Rentman also deserves credit for working a number of innovators and for her effectiveness in the set on the wing. Connie Cepko grabbed a loose ball from the 15-yard line and kicked it back downfield to far. The women are also beginning to play smart, rugby—taking advantage of trans-