Drop move debated

(Continued from page 1)

the small number of students involved. There were also suggestions that the change would create more problems than that it would solve, and that the present system is quite adequate.

The CAP formulation and articulates overall educational policy and also oversees the action of various other committees. The CAP involves undergraduate student performance and advances the faculty on academic matters. In both committees the majority of members belong to the faculty but there are a few student members.

Several professors opposed the move, but there are a few student members. Prof. Stephen Senturia raised the point that in the CAP proposal it is suggested that instructors should indicate to students their performance by the drop date. Students felt strongly on this matter.

The meeting then centered around questions asked by various faculty members. Prof. Stephen Senturia raised the point that in the CAP proposal it is suggested that instructors should indicate to students their performance by the drop date. Students felt strongly on this matter.

The meeting then centered around questions asked by various faculty members. Prof. Stephen Senturia raised the point that in the CAP proposal it is suggested that instructors should indicate to students their performance by the drop date. Students felt strongly on this matter.