Two false alarms sounded within two days at Senior House's Rustic Dormitory have caused great concern to the Campus Police. In both instances, fire-alarm bells were found to have been "accidentally" pulled by an unknown resident. Of particular concern is the risk which Cambridge Firefighters must incur in responding to such alarms. Riding as they do in open trucks, often struggling to hang on to a slippery brass bar while standing on small platforms and making a mad rush from pots and pans can only serve to substantially increase this risk, since the trucks then ride even harder than is usually the case. It should be in mind that some years ago a Cambridge Firefighter was killed when he fell off his truck while responding to an alarm at MIT which turned out to be false. False alarms are a matter of grave concern to all thinking persons. It is sincerely hoped that no more of them will be sounded.

Interloper Apprehended

An erratically acting man who refused to identify himself to Officers was arrested Sunday evening in the Student Center after igniting repeated police admonitions to stay out of Institute buildings. Arraigned the next day at Third District Court on a charge of "False Alarm Notice," he continued to refuse to properly identify himself and carried on in so peculiar a fashion that the presiding justice ordered him comented to the Bridgewater State Hospital for ten days psychiatric observation prior to his being trial, scheduled for mid-March.

Larceny at Salad Bar

A blue down-filled ski parka, valued at $45, and a pair of ski gloves were reportedly stolen from a rack at the Salo de Puerto Rico while the owner attended an activity there Sunday evening.
