The annual Harry S. Truman Scholarship competition will be made open to current sophomores in a junior in the fall. No MIT student will be eligible for the award for at least two years of graduate study. One MIT student will be selected, and the student will be notified by the end of the spring term. The MIT student will be eligible for $3,500, and the MIT is responsible for all expenses incurred by the student in the United States and abroad. MIT students interested in participating should contact the MIT Student Services, Office of Student Affairs, Room 3-118, or call 253-3400. The final selection will be made by the MIT Scholarship Committee, which consists of the current MIT vice presidents and the current MIT president. The MIT Scholarship Committee will be responsible for the selection and presentation of the MIT student to the Truman Scholarship Foundation.

The MIT Student Services Office is responsible for all expenses incurred by the student in the United States and abroad. MIT students interested in participating should contact the MIT Student Services, Office of Student Affairs, Room 3-118, or call 253-3400. The final selection will be made by the MIT Scholarship Committee, which consists of the current MIT vice presidents and the current MIT president. The MIT Scholarship Committee will be responsible for the selection and presentation of the MIT student to the Truman Scholarship Foundation.

The MIT Student Services Office is responsible for all expenses incurred by the student in the United States and abroad. MIT students interested in participating should contact the MIT Student Services, Office of Student Affairs, Room 3-118, or call 253-3400. The final selection will be made by the MIT Scholarship Committee, which consists of the current MIT vice presidents and the current MIT president. The MIT Scholarship Committee will be responsible for the selection and presentation of the MIT student to the Truman Scholarship Foundation.

The MIT Student Services Office is responsible for all expenses incurred by the student in the United States and abroad. MIT students interested in participating should contact the MIT Student Services, Office of Student Affairs, Room 3-118, or call 253-3400. The final selection will be made by the MIT Scholarship Committee, which consists of the current MIT vice presidents and the current MIT president. The MIT Scholarship Committee will be responsible for the selection and presentation of the MIT student to the Truman Scholarship Foundation.

The MIT Student Services Office is responsible for all expenses incurred by the student in the United States and abroad. MIT students interested in participating should contact the MIT Student Services, Office of Student Affairs, Room 3-118, or call 253-3400. The final selection will be made by the MIT Scholarship Committee, which consists of the current MIT vice presidents and the current MIT president. The MIT Scholarship Committee will be responsible for the selection and presentation of the MIT student to the Truman Scholarship Foundation.

The MIT Student Services Office is responsible for all expenses incurred by the student in the United States and abroad. MIT students interested in participating should contact the MIT Student Services, Office of Student Affairs, Room 3-118, or call 253-3400. The final selection will be made by the MIT Scholarship Committee, which consists of the current MIT vice presidents and the current MIT president. The MIT Scholarship Committee will be responsible for the selection and presentation of the MIT student to the Truman Scholarship Foundation.

The MIT Student Services Office is responsible for all expenses incurred by the student in the United States and abroad. MIT students interested in participating should contact the MIT Student Services, Office of Student Affairs, Room 3-118, or call 253-3400. The final selection will be made by the MIT Scholarship Committee, which consists of the current MIT vice presidents and the current MIT president. The MIT Scholarship Committee will be responsible for the selection and presentation of the MIT student to the Truman Scholarship Foundation.