Track dashes past Lowell

By Lew Bender

Editor's note: Lew Bender is a member of the MIT Indoor Track Team.

MIT got back! on the right track Friday night with a 73-57 win over Lowell Tech. The meet never really was the upset as everyone expected. MIT's biggest rival since Tufts headed coach was once an MIT track coach. The meet is tonight at Tufts.

The other event winners for MIT were Barry Butts '79 in the mile (4:28.9), Phil Vatch in the 800 yd. run (2:05.4), and Ron Adolph '82 who led in the sweep of the 440 yd. dash (5:58.4). Coach Gordon Kelly was pleased with the win, yet seemed upset at some of the performances. He stated that MIT's track squad will have to do better if they're to win in the upcoming Tufts-Colby meet. Tufts is MIT's fiercest rival since Tufts head coach, the meet is tonight at Tufts.

The men's and women's National Olympic Team Handball Squads will conduct a demonstration/instruction session in the Rockwell Cage tonight at 8pm. Admission is free. The president of the US Team Handball Federation, Dr. Peter Buehning, will be in charge of the program.

The men's and women's national teams will conduct a demonstration/instruction session in the Rockwell Cage tonight at 8pm. Admission is free. The president of the US Team Handball Federation, Dr. Peter Buehning, will be in charge of the program. There will be a game between the men's and women's national teams in addition to the demonstration/instruction session.

A SHARP CALCULATOR

Your Choice of 2

29 98 each

EL8080 Thin, pocket size scientific calculator with statistical functions, and Sharp sensor touch keyboard.

EL8145 Compact credit card sized calculator with 3 function keys, and Sharp sensor touch keyboard.

The Coop

MIT STUDENT CENTER

Fencers face important meet

By Amelia Phillips

Editor's note: Amelia Phillips is a member of the women's fencing team.

The coming weekend is an important one in this year's fencing season. Clemson University, which ranks fourth in the nation, and the University of North Carolina-Chapel Hill (UNC-CH), which ranks tenth, will both be here to take on three New England teams: MIT, Harvard, and Dartmouth.

The festivities start Friday, January 26th. The MIT men's and women's teams head the way against UNC at 3pm, followed by UNC vs. Dartmouth at 5pm, UNC vs. Harvard at 7pm. The meet against Clemson will begin at 9:30 Saturday morning. Harvard and Dartmouth will not be at this, as they had prior engagements. After a brief intermission, a four-way meet for the women and a three-way meet for the men will begin at 1pm Saturday afternoon.

The women will be challenged by Southeastern Massachusetts University, Baruch College, and Brown University. Opposing the men will be SMU and Baruch. All matches will be held on fencing strips located in the western portion of Dupont's main building. Admission is free. The presidential point, held in charge of the program.

There will be a game between the men's and women's national teams in addition to the demonstration/instruction session.

The men's and women's National Olympic Team Handball Squads will conduct a demonstration/instruction session in the Rockwell Cage tonight at 8pm. Admission is free. The president of the US Team Handball Federation, Dr. Peter Buehning, will be in charge of the program.

The men's and women's National Olympic Team Handball Squads will conduct a demonstration/instruction session in the Rockwell Cage tonight at 8pm. Admission is free. The president of the US Team Handball Federation, Dr. Peter Buehning, will be in charge of the program. There will be a game between the men's and women's national teams in addition to the demonstration/instruction session.