Class of 1978 dedicates gift in Lobby 7

By Richard Salt
James L. Bidigare, president of the Class of 1978, presented the gift to President Jerome B. Wiesner in an informal ceremony in Lobby 7 this past Monday afternoon.

The gift, an arrangement of benches and flowers, is now a permanent addition to the Registrar's Office. The gift was designed by the Office of the Registrar to provide a source of hazing and pledge pranks.

Another major problem which the Class Gift Fund raises funds for is the renovation of Lobby Lounge 7. The Class of 1978 has the largest gift fund raising drive is beginning to help with the planning of other events relating to graduation, are asked to call Marcia Grabow or Brenda Hambleton at x-8214.

Seniors raising funds for gift

By The Tech staff
The Senior Class Gift Project is underway! The Class of 1979 soliciters met with forty solicitors and several members of the Alumni Association staff on Thursday, May 3, for pizza and soda and to kick off the Class Gift Project. The solicitors include at least one person from each independent living group, and some residents from each of the four dormitories. Each solicitor is assigned to request donations from the members of the class of 79 in his or her living group.

During this past week, these members of the senior class have been soliciting contributions from classmates toward the Senior Class Gift, which consists of plans to create a gift fund raising drive is beginning to help with the planning of other events relating to graduation, are asked to call Marcia Grabow or Brenda Hambleton at x-8214.

The Women's varsity crew won their third straight women's varsity rowing title last week, defeating MIT women by over a length. (Photo by Kevin Osborn)

MIT fraternities little affected by 1960's

By Gordon B. Hef
Editor's Note: This is the third part in a four-part series of articles on fraternities.

MIT's present fraternity system is strong. No MIT fraternity chapters have folded in the recent past. In fact, several new houses have been added over the past few years and Zeta Psi will be participating in Rush next fall.

There are a number of reasons for this situation. The MIT fraternity system never went through much of the turmoil which killed and crippled other schools.

For this reason, the MIT fraternity system has caused difficulties at many schools is the entire concept of the fraternity system was never really crippled by it as systems at other schools were.

The solicitors include at least one person from each independent living group, and some residents from each of the four dormitories. Each solicitor is assigned to request donations from the members of the class of 79 in his or her living group.

During this past week, these members of the senior class have been soliciting contributions from classmates toward the Senior Class Gift, which consists of plans to create a gift fund raising drive is beginning to help with the planning of other events relating to graduation, are asked to call Marcia Grabow or Brenda Hambleton at x-8214.

The Women's varsity crew won their third straight women's varsity rowing title last week, defeating MIT women by over a length. (Photo by Kevin Osborn)

MIT fraternities little affected by 1960's

By Gordon B. Hef
Editor's Note: This is the third part in a four-part series of articles on fraternities.

MIT's present fraternity system is strong. No MIT fraternity chapters have folded in the recent past. In fact, several new houses have been added over the past few years and Zeta Psi will be participating in Rush next fall.

There are a number of reasons for this situation. The MIT fraternity system never went through much of the turmoil which killed and crippled other schools.

For this reason, the MIT fraternity system has caused difficulties at many schools is the entire concept of the fraternity system was never really crippled by it as systems at other schools were.

The solicitors include at least one person from each independent living group, and some residents from each of the four dormitories. Each solicitor is assigned to request donations from the members of the class of 79 in his or her living group.

During this past week, these members of the senior class have been soliciting contributions from classmates toward the Senior Class Gift, which consists of plans to create a gift fund raising drive is beginning to help with the planning of other events relating to graduation, are asked to call Marcia Grabow or Brenda Hambleton at x-8214.

The Women's varsity crew won their third straight women's varsity rowing title last week, defeating MIT women by over a length. (Photo by Kevin Osborn)