Agenda agreement in Rhodesian talks — Both the Zimbabwe Rhodesian government and the Patriotic Front guerrilla leaders agreed on an agenda for the British-sponsored settlement conference. The agreement and the general attitude of the participants has raised hopes that a settlement can be found for the 14-year-old conflict.

Mt Etna kills six — Sicily's Mt. Etna claimed six lives and injured 23 others Wednesday when it poured lava in a surprise explosion into a group of more than 200 tourists. Etna has killed hundreds of thousands of persons in the last 2400 years, however, the last reported death was in 1982.

Freddy's not dead, yet — Hurricane Frederic struck Mobile, Alabama Wednesday night with 95 mph winds. About 400,000 people were evacuated from four coastal states, mostly from Mobile and Pensacola. The National Guard has been called out to prevent looting in Mobile. Frederic is moving north and could cause flooding in Tennessee. The National Weather Service expects heavy rain from Frederic to reach New England today without hurricane force winds.

Wheeler says UA may desire SCC resources

Nevertheless, the SCC would not feel itself bound by an order from the GA. "If we get a request from the GA to do something, we will put it on the agenda for our next meeting and vote on it," explained Wheeler.

Memorandum of the committee investigating recent suspicious UAP called "enough pressure to force the SCC into an action they did not wish to take.

But, it is the activities that the SCC had developed relatively recently that receive the most concern from many of the members. Wheeler commented, "In areas that the SCC has developed on its own, the Pinball Room, TV lounge, and Coffeehouse, we are autonomous from the parent group, the UA."

Two of these activities, specifically the Pinball room and Coffeehouse, develop large amounts of income for the group. The most recent financial experience indicates that such development has led to seven thousand thousand dollars in profits. Before sources estimate that the profit for the Pinball room for last year will be much larger than that.

SIC Treasurer Eric Sohn, '81, claims that the income from the Pinball Room is used on a break-even basis over the year for events and improvements to the Student Center.

The income from the Coffeehouse is considered separately by the SCC, but not until recent years that it has made any profit at all. Now it makes more money than they are accustomed to spend. Recently, the SCC purchased three six-month, Treasury certificates, each of which is valued at ten thousand dollars.

"There is no question that the SCC has been able to generate revenue," asserted Holden.

Weather

The remnants of Hurricane Frederic will combine with a cold front to produce widespread rain over New England today. Cloudy skies this morning with showers beginning by early afternoon. Rain, heavy at times, will be accompanied by gusty southerly winds and will lift to the north by early evening.
