If you live or work in Cambridge and need recertification of your CPR training, come join in “Save a Heart Day,” hosted by the Hyatt Regency Cambridge on March 1st. Instructors will be on hand to give training for recertification. Anyone holding a current Basic Life Support Certificate is eligible. Registration is between 9:30 and 2:00, with a $1.00 charge to cover costs. For more info, call Heather Rashtlif, Cambridge Red Cross, 264-7800 or Marie Moses, American Heart Association, 738-4010.

Applications for the Environmental Interns Program are available at the Career Planning and Placement Office, 12-150. This program gives students an opportunity to work in paid internships with governmental agencies, non-profit organizations, and corporations throughout the country. Contact Tracey Murphy, Placement Office, for more info. The deadline is March 3, 1980.

The MIT Lecture Series Committee and The Republican Club of MIT will sponsor a lecture by Mr. Fernandez, the only minority candidate on the Massachusetts primary ballot, a consulting economist and entrepreneur. The lecture is free and open to the public. Mr. Fernandez will be available for questioning by the press following the lecture.

“Mathematics save money,” a lecture being given by Professor Gian-Carlo Rota, designed to give freshmen a broader perspective on math and its applications. The event was cancelled after the venue was badly damaged by fire. Many of the 110 people who had signed up for the luncheon have not claimed their refunds. They should do so as soon as possible by bringing their receipts to Sea Grant’s offices in Building E38-330.
