IRWIN SIZER AWARD
NOMINATIONS SOUGHT

Nominations are being sought for the IRWIN SIZER AWARD, established by the Graduate Student Council in 1975 to honor Irwin Sizer, former Dean of the Graduate School from 1967 to 1975, presently President of the Health Science Fund and Consultant to the Resources Development Center. The Sizer Award is presented "for the most significant improvement to MIT education," to encourage innovations and excellence in MIT academic programs. The recipient of this Award, selected by a committee of the Graduate Student Council in closed session, will receive a plaque and a cash award of $150. Any person or group in the Institute community may make a nomination, though in any year the Award Committee may decide to give no award.

Nominations may be made by letter, should include references and/or explanations. They should be submitted to the Graduate Student Council Office, Walker Bldg., Room 50-222, no later than April 18, 1980.

Previous Awards have been given to the leaders of the Writing Black Marble, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Becker, and the Office of Minority Education (1975). University Research Opportunities Program (1977), the Innovation Center at Sloan (1973), the Graduate Student Council (1979), and the Office of Minority Education (1979).

Better than Ever!
New, Higher Pay...
Now earn even more money with the Biggest and Best Homemaker Agency in
in the State. Help Elderly, Children & Disabled in their own homes. Work as many hours as you wish in your own community.

Intercity
Homemaker Service, Inc.

An equal opportunity employer
Call 823-5210 5-321-6300

Lisa Hakala
425 McCormick Hall
(d) 85655

Good Friday, April 4
Lutheran-Episcopal Meditation and Reading of the Passion
12 Noon in MIT chapel

Catholic Veneration of the Cross, Reading of the Passion and Communion Service 3 pm MIT Chapel

First Celebration of Easter MIT Chapel
11:30 a.m.
Second Celebration of Easter MIT Chapel
Easter Sunday Morning 9 a.m.
Third Celebration of Easter MIT Chapel
Easter Sunday Morning 12 noon.

(above are Catholic)

ARTS
VODKA PERVERTS
VIEWS ON RABBITS

Joseph Wambaugh made his reputation writing sensitive novels about men who are called upon to witness savage cruelties as a normal part of their working lives. The Black Marble, adapted from his latest novel, tells the story of one of these men, Sergeant Vasily Vasilyevich Valnikov (Robert Foxworth), a burnt-out Los Angeles cop of Russian background who drinks heavily and has nightmares about vivisected rabbits.

Valnikov is assigned a new partner, Sergeant Naile Zamirnova (Paula Prentiss), and together they set out to investigate a dog-napping case. At first, the hard-boiled Natalie dismisses Valnikov as a "bunny-tunes" drunk, but soon she becomes attracted to him. The unlikely couple go to dinner at a Russian restaurant, get drunk on Russian vodka, and retire to the sensitive Russian's apartment, where he reveals the secret reasons behind his nightmares and heavy drinking. He tells Natalie of his fear of drawing "the black marble," of being a loser who has to spend his life working amidst the cold-blooded savagery of the criminal world.

Morning comes and Natalie regains her sobriety and better judgement. The short-lived love affair is over.

The story of the dog-napper (Harry Dean Stanton) is interwoven with the love story in an attempt to provide some comic relief. Valnikov rescues the pooch after a series of extraordinary coincidences, and Natalie goes up a Hawaiian vacation with her boyfriend because she's found she's really in love with Valnikov for one, he hasn't drawn the black marble.

Irwin Sizer Award
Nominations Sought

Nominations are being sought for the IRWIN SIZER AWARD, established by the Graduate Student Council in 1975 to honor Irwin Sizer, former Dean of the Graduate School from 1967 to 1975, presently President of the Health Science Fund and Consultant to the Resources Development Center. The Sizer Award is presented "for the most significant improvement to MIT education" to encourage innovations and excellence in MIT academic programs. The recipient of this Award, selected by a committee of the Graduate Student Council in closed session, will receive a plaque and a cash award of $150. Any person or group in the Institute community may make a nomination, though in any year the Award Committee may decide to give no award.

Nominations may be made by letter, should include references and/or explanations. They should be submitted to the Graduate Student Council Office, Walker Bldg., Room 50-222, no later than April 18, 1980.

Previous Awards have been given to the leaders of the Writing Black Marble, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Becker, and the Office of Minority Education (1975). University Research Opportunities Program (1977), the Innovation Center at Sloan (1973), the Graduate Student Council (1979), and the Office of Minority Education (1979).

Better than Ever!
New, Higher Pay...
Now earn even more money with the Biggest and Best Homemaker Agency in
in the State. Help Elderly, Children & Disabled
in their own homes. Work as many hours as you wish in your own community.

Intercity
Homemaker Service, Inc.

An equal opportunity employer
Call 823-5210 5-321-6300

Lisa Hakala
425 McCormick Hall
(d) 85655

Good Friday, April 4
Lutheran-Episcopal Meditation and Reading of the Passion
12 Noon in MIT chapel

Catholic Veneration of the Cross, Reading of the Passion and Communion Service 3 pm MIT Chapel

First Celebration of Easter MIT Chapel
11:30 a.m.
Second Celebration of Easter MIT Chapel
Easter Sunday Morning 9 a.m.
Third Celebration of Easter MIT Chapel
Easter Sunday Morning 12 noon.

(above are Catholic)