Housing decision delayed
Cross-campus switch decision is probable in fall

By Laura Farhie
The proposed cross-campus housing switch may set by the Academic Council meeting, said Sherwood. The Associate Dean for Housing said that the reason why no decision might be made until next February is because there are not enough time between the present and final exams to reach a decision.

One of the reasons why the housing switch was delayed this term, according to Dean of the Graduate School Kenneth R. Wadleigh, was because the new Dean for Student Affairs, Mike Bayless, was busy with the office just one week ago and "had been too busy to proceed with his thoughts," said Wadleigh. Also, contrary to the idea that the decision must be made before the opening of Next House, Wadleigh said that the decision is "not an absolute requirement before fall, 1981."

"The decision is not just a question of the overlap of spring and fall campus dormitories switch possibilities. We need to decide if people of East Campus like the privacy of a single room, the charmed location of the dorms and court yard, the expensive rent as compared to the West Campus and the close location to the Institute and subway. "The thought of living in New York City is more than the thought of "Ashdown," said Ortlieb. "I haven't heard anybody come up with a better solution than the move," said Vicki Woolworth '81, co-president of Senior House. "The dorms and sophomore rooms are upset because they would have been turned into the classrooms and the juniors and seniors are upset on the principle of the matter."

The presidents of Senior House and East Campus said that they are forming a committee in order to find "rational alternatives" to the proposed cross-campus dormitory switch. Ortlieb added that they are starting an "on-maes petition" and are going to make the "cheaper alternatives to get extensive student beds." However, "Woolworth can't really fight it until it becomes a reality," said Ortlieb.

The presidents of East Campus and Senior House hope that the new Dean for Student Affac is not in a position to make all of the decisions, and that the new Dean will have to consult with them. "I think we'll get rid of the debris in it in Senior House," Wadleigh also said the concurrent proposal to move the undergraduates now to the east campuses dorms to the west campuses as "reasonable." He said, "I realize there is a disruption that could be an unpleasant disruption if we have it. But it's alternative to that is desirable."

The president of East Campus, Eric Dolen '81, does not feel that the cross-campus dormitory switch is reasonable. He said, "It's a lot better for the people of East Campus like the privacy of a single room, the charmed location of the dorms and court yard, the inexpensive rent as compared to the West Campus, the close location to the Institute and subway. "The thought of living in New York City is more than the thought of "Ashdown," said Ortlieb. "I haven't heard anybody come up with a better solution than the move," said Vicki Woolworth '81, co-president of Senior House. "The dorms and sophomore rooms are upset because they would have been turned into the classrooms and the juniors and seniors are upset on the principle of the matter."

The presidents of Senior House and East Campus said that they are forming a committee in order to find "rational alternatives" to the proposed cross-campus dormitory switch. Ortlieb added that they are starting an "on-maes petition" and are going to make the "cheaper alternatives to get extensive student beds." However, "Woolworth can't really fight it until it becomes a reality," said Ortlieb.

The presidents of East Campus and Senior House hope that the new Dean for Student Af-
fac is not in a position to make all of the decisions, and that the new Dean will have to consult with them. "I think we'll get rid of the debris in it in Senior House," Wadleigh also said the concurrent
proposal to move the undergraduates now to the east campuses dorms to the west campuses as "reasonable." He said, "I realize there is a disruption that could be an unpleasant disruption if we have it. But it's alternative to that is desirable."

The president of East Campus, Eric Dolen '81, does not feel that the cross-campus dormitory switch is reasonable. He said, "It's a lot better for the people of East Campus like the privacy of a single room, the charmed location of the dorms and court yard, the inexpensive rent as compared to the West Campus, the close location to the Institute and subway. "The thought of living in New York City is more than the thought of "Ashdown," said Ortlieb. "I haven't heard anybody come up with a better solution than the move," said Vicki Woolworth '81, co-president of Senior House. "The dorms and sophomore rooms are upset because they would have been turned into the classrooms and the juniors and seniors are upset on the principle of the matter."

The presidents of Senior House and East Campus said that they are forming a committee in order to find "rational alternatives" to the proposed cross-campus dormitory switch. Ortlieb added that they are starting an "on-maes petition" and are going to make the "cheaper alternatives to get extensive student beds." However, "Woolworth can't really fight it until it becomes a reality," said Ortlieb.

The presidents of East Campus and Senior House hope that the new Dean for Student Af-
fac is not in a position to make all of the decisions, and that the new Dean will have to consult with them. "I think we'll get rid of the debris in it in Senior House," Wadleigh also said the concurrent
proposal to move the undergraduates now to the east campuses dorms to the west campuses as "reasonable." He said, "I realize there is a disruption that could be an unpleasant disruption if we have it. But it's alternative to that is desirable."

The president of East Campus, Eric Dolen '81, does not feel that the cross-campus dormitory switch is reasonable. He said, "It's a lot better for the people of East Campus like the privacy of a single room, the charmed location of the dorms and court yard, the inexpensive rent as compared to the West Campus, the close location to the Institute and subway. "The thought of living in New York City is more than the thought of "Ashdown," said Ortlieb. "I haven't heard anybody come up with a better solution than the move," said Vicki Woolworth '81, co-president of Senior House. "The dorms and sophomore rooms are upset because they would have been turned into the classrooms and the juniors and seniors are upset on the principle of the matter."

The presidents of Senior House and East Campus said that they are forming a committee in order to find "rational alternatives" to the proposed cross-campus dormitory switch. Ortlieb added that they are starting an "on-maes petition" and are going to make the "cheaper alternatives to get extensive student beds." However, "Woolworth can't really fight it until it becomes a reality," said Ortlieb.

The presidents of East Campus and Senior House hope that the new Dean for Student Af-
fac is not in a position to make all of the decisions, and that the new Dean will have to consult with them. "I think we'll get rid of the debris in it in Senior House," Wadleigh also said the concurrent
proposal to move the undergraduates now to the east campuses dorms to the west campuses as "reasonable." He said, "I realize there is a disruption that could be an unpleasant disruption if we have it. But it's alternative to that is desirable."

The president of East Campus, Eric Dolen '81, does not feel that the cross-campus dormitory switch is reasonable. He said, "It's a lot better for the people of East Campus like the privacy of a single room, the charmed location of the dorms and court yard, the inexpensive rent as compared to the West Campus, the close location to the Institute and subway. "The thought of living in New York City is more than the thought of "Ashdown," said Ortlieb. "I haven't heard anybody come up with a better solution than the move," said Vicki Woolworth '81, co-president of Senior House. "The dorms and sophomore rooms are upset because they would have been turned into the classrooms and the juniors and seniors are upset on the principle of the matter."

The presidents of Senior House and East Campus said that they are forming a committee in order to find "rational alternatives" to the proposed cross-campus dormitory switch. Ortlieb added that they are starting an "on-maes petition" and are going to make the "cheaper alternatives to get extensive student beds." However, "Woolworth can't really fight it until it becomes a reality," said Ortlieb.

The presidents of East Campus and Senior House hope that the new Dean for Student Af-
fac is not in a position to make all of the decisions, and that the new Dean will have to consult with them. "I think we'll get rid of the debris in it in Senior House," Wadleigh also said the concurrent
proposal to move the undergraduates now to the east campuses dorms to the west campuses as "reasonable." He said, "I realize there is a disruption that could be an unpleasant disruption if we have it. But it's alternative to that is desirable."

The president of East Campus, Eric Dolen '81, does not feel that the cross-campus dormitory switch is reasonable. He said, "It's a lot better for the people of East Campus like the privacy of a single room, the charmed location of the dorms and court yard, the inexpensive rent as compared to the West Campus, the close location to the Institute and subway. "The thought of living in New York City is more than the thought of "Ashdown," said Ortlieb. "I haven't heard anybody come up with a better solution than the move," said Vicki Woolworth '81, co-president of Senior House. "The dorms and sophomore rooms are upset because they would have been turned into the classrooms and the juniors and seniors are upset on the principle of the matter."

The presidents of Senior House and East Campus said that they are forming a committee in order to find "rational alternatives" to the proposed cross-campus dormitory switch. Ortlieb added that they are starting an "on-maes petition" and are going to make the "cheaper alternatives to get extensive student beds." However, "Woolworth can't really fight it until it becomes a reality," said Ortlieb.

The presidents of East Campus and Senior House hope that the new Dean for Student Af-
fac is not in a position to make all of the decisions, and that the new Dean will have to consult with them. "I think we'll get rid of the debris in it in Senior House," Wadleigh also said the concurrent
proposal to move the under-
graduates now to the east campuses dorms to the west campuses as "reasonable." He said, "I realize there is a disruption that could be an unpleasant disruption if we have it. But it's alternative to that is desirable."

The president of East Campus, Eric Dolen '81, does not feel that the cross-campus dormitory switch is reasonable. He said, "It's a lot better for the people of East Campus like the privacy of a single room, the charmed location of the dorms and court yard, the inexpensive rent as compared to the West Campus, the close location to the Institute and subway. "The thought of living in New York City is more than the thought of "Ashdown," said Ortlieb. "I haven't heard anybody come up with a better solution than the move," said Vicki Woolworth '81, co-president of Senior House. "The dorms and sophomore rooms are upset because they would have been turned into the classrooms and the juniors and seniors are upset on the principle of the matter."

The presidents of Senior House and East Campus said that they are forming a committee in order to find "rational alternatives" to the proposed cross-campus dormitory switch. Ortlieb added that they are starting an "on-maes petition" and are going to make the "cheaper alternatives to get extensive student beds." However, "Woolworth can't really fight it until it becomes a reality," said Ortlieb.