Fascist collaboration feared

(Continued from page 1) evidence that the neo-fascist groups are linked, she added, but there is a great deal of informal contact between the groups. No single event seems to have triggered the outbreak in terriment over the past three months, and Berger felt that the only real explanation for this wave of violence was, aside from coincidence, a certain amount of planning and coordination among fascist groups in France, Italy, and Germany.

Berger added that the resurgence of the National Front in Great Britain, a neo-fascist group focusing on the colored Commonwealth immigrants in England, is essentially racial in nature and is probably not connected with neo-fascism on the Continent.

The possibility of foreign power intervention in and collusion with the neo-fascist movement of Western Europe should not be dismissed, said Berger. European publications, including The Economist of London, have been recently reporting ties between Middle Eastern groups and some Italian and German right-wing organizations. Both West German Christian Democratic Union party leader Franz-Josef Strauss and the West German Ministry of the Interior claim to have information that Karl-Heinz Hoffman, leader of the neo-Nazi group that set off a bomb last month at the Oktoberfest celebration in Munich, was linked with both the Palestine Liberation Organization and the Libyan government of Qaddafi. Other reports tie Hof-

I'm glad it took 1 interview to get to MITRE. Now when I say I chose them, I know exactly what I'm talking about.

After 15 interviews with various companies, I finally found MITRE. And after 15 interviews I definitely knew what I was looking for when I saw it. I had to have breathing room. A place that would turn me loose and let me work on different kinds of projects. On the other hand, I had to know I'd be able to turn to other people for advice and backup. And I definitely wanted a steady growth situation. With the MITRE people, I knew right away I'd found it all.

At any given time, they have some 75 or so funded, significant programs involving several hundred separate projects and tasks. And because they're Technical Advisors to the Air Force's Electronic Systems Division in Command, Control and Communications (C3), they design and develop some of the world's most advanced information systems.

Still, MITRE handles every assignment as if it were the only one. Because they have to come up with the right solution every time. That's their product. The best of MITRE to me is that they'll let me move from project to project if I want, or get deeply involved in a longer-range one. There's always something waiting for me.

said, "The Economist," but these links are tenuous at best.

No complicity of the Soviet Union in any of the right-wing terrorism in Europe during the past several months has been es-published.
